JULIAN IS NOT PRESENT WHEN TRIAL BEGINS

Oklahoma City Prosecutor Says He Will Ask Extradition on Income Tax Charge

Fifty-two Men Are Before Court

Julian's Attorney Says He Does Not Know Whether He Is in Canada

Associated Press

Oklahoma City, Feb. 6.—C. C. Julian, spectacular Canadian-born oil promoter, failed to appear when the government called to trial here today fifty-two persons charged with using the mails to defraud in the sale of stock in the C. C. Julian Oil and Royalties Company.

District Attorney H. K. Hyde indicated he would ask forfeiture of the $25,000 bond posted by Julian, who announced in letters received here last week he would seek to escape prosecution by taking refuge in Canada, his native country. Julian, whose present whereabouts are unknown, asserted he could not get a fair trial in the United States. He was born of Irish parents near Morris, Man.

INCOME TAX ACTION

Hyde has said he would seek extradition of Julian for alleged income tax default. The extradition treaty between Canada and the United States does not cover mail fraud cases.

The government regards Julian, Lamar S. Boling, San Antonio, Texas, allegedly his original financial backer; C. A. Julian, the promoter's brother; John H. Peacock, Oklahoma City oil man; W. J. Wellman and Mike Lubin as the principals in the case.

VERIGIN IN SURPRISE MOVE

Habeas Corpus Action at Halifax Delays Deportation; Hearing to-morrow

Canadian Press

Halifax, Feb. 6.—Peter Verigin today was in a detention cell at this port, while fellow members of the Doukhobor colony fought to prevent his being deported from Canada.

The head of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood was brought to Halifax on Friday evening, after he had been taken in secret from the jail at Prince Albert, Sask., having served half of an eighteen-month term for perjury. On Saturday afternoon a red monoplane roared in from Boston, and G. G. Makaroff, S. F. Hellen and J. P. Shukin stepped out of it and hurried downtown.

A few hours later Mr. Justice Humphrey Mellett in Nova Scotia Supreme court chambers had granted an order nisi, returnable on Tuesday morning, calling for the production of Verigin in court.

WORKED QUIETLY

Verigin's friends took a lead from the Immigration Department's book, for the application for an order was presented with as much secrecy as Verigin's removal from the Prince Albert jail was accomplished. Not until

CONEY ISLAND SCENE OF FIRE

Number of Amusement Places Destroyed During Heavy Wind; Losses Total $100,000

New York, Feb. 6.—Fire, persistent plague of Coney Island, struck again today at the famous sea shore resort, riding along the boardwalk on a biting southwest gale and destroying several amusement places.

In the bleak hush two hours before dawn and with thermometers registering twelve above zero, fire erupted from the wooden and papier mache "tunnel of love" in that section of the amusement place known as "The Bowery."

The gale picked up the fire and swept it through the terra wheel, the kiddie park, the caterpillar ride, the motordrome and two wooden concessions.

WIND CHANGED

Larger fires were in the path of the wind when suddenly the wind shifted to the north, swung sharply to the north. The shift saved the bath houses and the portion of the boardwalk near them.

The losses were estimated at $100,000.

DEBT REVISION DISCUSSION TO-DAY IN BRITISH CAPITAL

Sir Ronald Lindsay, British Ambassador to the United States, is pictured above as he answered newspaper reporters' questions just after his recent talk with President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt at Warm Springs, Georgia. It was Mr. Roosevelt's views on revision of the British debt as learned at that informal conference that Sir Ronald reported to cabinet members in London to-day.

Canadian Press
London, Feb. 7.—Sir Ronald Lindsay, British Ambassador to the United States, arrived this afternoon at No. 10 Downing Street for a conference. He entered the One door of the Foreign Office and posed for photographers, but declined to give an interview. Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary, who had visited Premier MacDonald at No. 10 Downing Street, crossed to the Foreign Office bareheaded a few minutes before Sir Ronald's car arrived.

The Prime Minister greeted him and he went into conference immediately with the "big five" of the cabinet, including Mr. MacDonald, Sir John Simon, Neville Chamberlain, Mr. Hon. Stanley Baldwin and Rt. Hon. Walter Runciman.

ASK OPINION ON INFLATION

City Council's Support Sought on Pound-dollar Parity Move

The City Council this evening will be asked to express an opinion on the question of inflating the Canadian dollar to the level of the pound sterling.

This expression is sought by the city of Vancouver, B.C., in a communication received to-day. The British Columbia government, for which endorsement is sought, reads: "That as the prosperity of Canada depends to a great extent on exports to other parts of the Empire, and due to differences in exchange Canada is placed at a real disadvantage from an export standpoint, we humbly petition the federal government to place the Canadian dollar on a parity with the pound sterling."

WITNESS LATE FOR HEARING

Mrs. Wanderwell Ordered Into Custody Till Long Beach, Cal., Trial Ends

Associated Press
Long Beach, Calif., Feb. 6.—Aloha Wanderwell, alleged widow and chief state witness in the prosecution of William J. Guy for the mystery killing of her husband, Walter Wanderwell, created a sensation in the court room here to-day because of tardiness.

Court orders to start a search for her created a tense situation immediately after the trial session opened. While officers were leaving the court, she quietly strolled in and apologized for being late. It took fifteen minutes after the court had convened.

The judge immediately ordered her into custody, to be held until completion of the case, and the trial went on.

B.C. Government Gives Notice As Municipalities Draft Estimates

Higher Taxes For Bigger Wage-earners Forecast in B.C. Budget

First draft of estimates submitted by the different departments of the British Columbia Government have been returned by the Department of Finance with instructions for revision with the object of cutting the total down to $22,000,000. It was learned at the Parliament Buildings during the week-end. The reduction is from $24,000,000.

As preparation of the budget proceeds announcement of one or two features of it have been made. Municipalities are warned they will have to accept further heavy reductions in grants. There will be no swerving from the policy of reducing educational grants announced some time ago.

LUMBER SHIP CALLS FOR TOW

San Francisco
San Francisco, Feb. 6.—The Sudden and Christensen freighter Santian, which left Raymond, Washington, February 3 with lumber for San Francisco, reported to-day she had lost her propeller eighty miles north of here. The Swedish steamer Roken was standing by pending arrival of a tug.

Ship Known Here Disabled After Engine-room Fire

Ms. Pacific Shipper Helpless Off Oregon Coast Awaiting Tow Into Coos Bay

Crew Fought Fierce Blaze Several Hours This Morning; SOS Message Heard Here

Her engines disabled by a fierce blaze which broke out early this morning when she was off the Oregon Coast, the Ms. Pacific Shipper, well-known at this port as lying helpless near Coos Bay today while plans were being made by the United States Coastguard station at Marshfield to have her towed into Coos Bay.

The fire was brought under control at 9 o'clock this morning after gallant work by members of the crew. The blaze broke out in the engine room at daybreak when the ship was fifteen miles west of Cape Gregory, not far from Coos Bay. The flames later spread to the deck immediately above the engine room and burned fiercely for several hours. An SOS message was sent out shortly before 8 o'clock and was picked up by several ships in the vicinity and by the Gonzales Wireless Station at Victoria.

The freighter Charles J. Wipley was only a few miles from the Pacific Shipper and rushed to the aid of the stricken ship with all speed. Several other ships also hurried to the side of the Shipper, remaining alongside until advised that the fire had been checked about 9 o'clock, by members of the crew, with the ship's hoses and buckets.

The United States cutter Redwing, stationed at Astoria east of lines and headed for the burning ship immediately after the first SOS message was received. There were no passengers aboard, but the ship carries a crew of fifty men.

B.C. CARGO
The Pacific Shipper is well known at Victoria, being in regular service between here and the United Kingdom. She did not call at Victoria on her last voyage, however, proceeding direct from William Head quarantine station to Vancouver. She was loaded with wheat, flour, fresh apples, lumber, copper and other freight from British Columbia and Puget Sound ports at the time of the fire this morning. She was en route to England via Portland, San Francisco, Los Angeles and the Panama Canal.

It will be necessary to delay the ship at some coast port for repairs. If they are extensive she may return to Victoria or Vancouver. A survey of the ship's engine room will be made at Coos Bay.

Hitler Not Accepting Chancellor's Salary

Berlin, Feb. 6.—Chancellor Hitler has renounced his salary of 48,000 marks (approximately $11,376) because he estimates she may return to Victoria or Vancouver. A survey of the ship's engine room will be made at Coos Bay.

The judge immediately ordered her into custody, to be held until completion of the case, and the trial went on.

PLOTTERS BLAMED FOR SHIP FIRE

Paris, Feb. 6.—The newspaper Le Matin to-day said arson seemed to be the only explanation for the burning of the steamer Atlantique, which was destroyed by fire in the English Channel January 4, with a loss of a number of lives.

The report of the investigating committee had been turned over to the public prosecutor at Bordeaux with a view to a criminal inquiry, the newspaper said.

TWO CAPTURED BY CIVILIANS

Youths Face Burglary Count After Window Smashing at Jewelry Store

Taxi-men and Customs Officer Figure in Catching Alleged Robbers

Glendon Merriman, aged twenty, and Frank Clear, aged nineteen, were arraigned before Magistrate George Jay in the City Police Court this morning on charges of breaking and entering the store of Joseph Rose Ltd., 1013 Government Street, and committing theft.

The youths were apprehended early Sunday morning by two taxi-drivers and a customs officer following a window smashing episode at the jewelry store.

They were remanded to Thursday after electing summary trial through counsel, W. C. Mowbray, K.C., appearing for Merriman, and T. M. Miller for Clear. Pleas were reserved.

E. H. Caldwell, of the C. & C. taxi service, figured as the main character in the capture of the pair, being assisted by Frank Benoit, of the same firm, and William Watson, customs officer. The three thanked this morning by Chief of Police Hestley, who said the police heartily appreciated the spirit of public co-operation shown in their actions.

HEARD GLASS CRASH
According to the details given police by these men, Mr. Caldwell, at his taxi-stand, near Courtney and Government Streets, heard the crash of glass when the window in the Rose store was broken.

PHYSICIANS ASK RELIEF CASE PAY

Vancouver, Feb. 6.—Representatives of Vancouver physicians, to-day met the civic relief committee and asked that the city reimburse members of the profession for attending relief cases.

No present two doctors are engaged by the city for relief cases, but the department does not assume responsibility for calls between 7 p.m. and 7 a.m. in many cases, relief families summon other doctors and it is to seek some policy on this situation that the physicians conferred with the relief committee.

ON HIS RECOMMENDATION
"In to-day's issue of The Vancouver Guardian," Mr. Ferguson told the Canadian Press, "appears an article purporting to reveal dissensions between the Prime Minister of Canada and myself. I rarely take notice of newspaper articles of this character, but a repetition of this story indicates a determined effort to make trouble and I feel I should give it a most emphatic denial."

"There is not a shadow of foundation for any such report," Mr. Ferguson declared. "The appointment of the secretary of the High Commissioner's office (Col. G. P. Vanier) to the commandant of the strike in the plant (Turn to Page 2, Col. 3)

Captain, Aboard Small Steamer, Joins in Hunt For Mutineers Aboard Dutch Cruiser De Zeven Provinciën Off Sumatra Coast

Canadian Press and Associated Press
Batavia, Java, Feb. 6.—The entire Dutch East Indies fleet, joined in a search of the high seas to-day for a Dutch warship, which disappeared with a mutinous crew in control. What the crew intended to do or where it planned to take the vessel were "mysteries."

The spectacle of the commander, aboard a small government vessel, pursuing his own ship, was one that have delighted Joseph Conrad, writer of sea stories.

NINE OFFICERS TAKEN ALONG
Nine Dutch officers and a number of sub-officers were abducted when the mutiny broke out yesterday aboard the heavily armed cruiser De Zeven Provinciën. The native Sumatran sailors, because their pay had been cut, put out to sea immediately.

Ottawa Dispatch to Manchester Guardian Tells of Breach; No Disagreement, Says High Commissioner to Britain

Canadian Press

London, Feb. 6.—From the bed to which he is confined by a severe cold, Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner to the United Kingdom, to-day issued through the Canadian Press a denial of implications in a special cable from Ottawa to The Manchester Guardian, which he said "purported to reveal dissensions between Premier Bennett and himself."

The Manchester Guardian's cable, published to-day, referred to the fact that Mr. Ferguson was not appointed to the Canadian section of the inter-empire consultative committee which will meet at Canada House shortly to consider ways of facilitating intra-empire consultation and ways of furthering empire trade.

"In to-day's issue of The Manchester Guardian," Mr. Ferguson told the Canadian Press, "appears an article purporting to reveal dissensions between the Prime Minister of Canada and myself. February Programme Sends Workers Back to Jobs in Vancouver, Montreal and Other Towns

Canadian Press
Montreal, Feb. 6.—In company with fellow employees at several points throughout Canada, 4,000 shopmen went to work here to-day at the Angus Shops of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Expectation was that about ten days would be needed to complete the February programme of work.

Two weeks ago the men were laid off when the January programme was finished. At Winnipeg some 1,500 men were again at work, while other large groups were on duty at McAdam Junction, N.B., Carleton Place, Ont., Toronto, Calgary and Vancouver.

REQUEST GANDHI BE FREED FAILS

New Delhi, India, Feb. 6.—Opposition members in the House of Assembly to-day demanded the release of Mahatma Gandhi, but the government declared it was unable to release the Nationalist leader from jail in view of his stated intention to "use all his talents to promote the civil disobedience movement."

The members demanding Gandhi's release based their request on the recent statement of Sir Samuel Hoare, Secretary of State for India, in which he assured the Indian people the British Government was carrying out a policy of good will toward India.

No Depression Talk in East, Says Wm. H. Funston Jr., Firestone Head in Canada

B.C. in Line to First Feel Beneficial Effects When Turn Comes

Eastern Canadians are not talking depression any more, states William H. Funston, Jr., president of Firestone Tire and Rubber Company of Canada Limited, with headquarters at Hamilton, Ont., who is in Victoria to-day after a tour from the Maritimes. He is accompanied by J. A. Livingston, sales manager for the company.

They came west to confer with John Dunsmuir, of Mackenzie, White and Dunsmuir, Limited; Fraser Jameson, district manager for British Columbia, and Thomas A. McKierman, local manager, relative to merchandising and advertising plans for the year.

"We are well satisfied with last year's results, and anticipate greatly increased business during the present year," declared Mr. Funston, who is staying at the Empress Hotel.

"In keeping with this spirit of optimism, the Firestone Company plans to increase its newspaper advertising for the coming year because we believe well-planned and scientifically-applied (Turn to Page 2, Col. 3)

MOLLISON ON LONG FLIGHT

Making England-Brazil Attempt; Two Others Seeking World Distance Record

Two more notable flights from Great Britain got under way to-day, Captain James A. Mollison winging his way on the first stage of a journey to South America, and a pair of Royal Air Force officers flying toward South Africa on a long-planned attempt to capture the world distance record.

At BARCELONA
Barcelona, Spain, Feb. 6.—J. A. Mollison, who set out this morning from England for a flight to Brazil, arrived here late this afternoon and said he would remain only an hour.

He found the weather on the way over bad.

As night fell it was believed the pilot decided not to chance night travel and had taken the machine to the surface somewhere near the mouth of the Neus River to await dawn.

As daylight came to-day, there was no word of the machine, however, and a search was instituted.

The searching planes and vessels covered the territory north and south of Anyox, as it is possible the plane overshoot its mark in the darkness. A report from Arrandale, canyery, north of Prince Rupert, that a machine had been heard passing over yesterday evening indicated the machine had completed about half the journey to Anyox.

NO MANCHUKUO RECOGNITION

Geneva, Switzerland, Feb. 6.—The League of Nations committee of nineteen, which has been seeking a solution to the Manchurian dispute, has agreed the recommendations it is preparing should be based on a declaration against recognition of the state of Manchukuo and on other principles proposed in the report of the Lytton commission.

The work of drafting these recommendations has been turned over to the same sub-committee of nine which drew up other parts of the report. Its members seemed inclined to proceed with the formulation of a firm policy.

Five planes left over the week-end for Anyox with police. The steamer Catala brought fifteen officers here from points south, ten have arrived by train and a few have been sent from this district. About fifty men have been sent to the smelter town by way of this port.

One miner and one constable injured in last week's clash have been brought here by air for hospital treatment.

Government prosecutors allege a $5,000,000 conspiracy in which more than 15,000 persons lost most of their investments in the C. C. Julian Oil and Royalties Company and several other enterprises.

Reading of the indictment alone was expected to consume most of today's session of the trial, which may last a month.

HAS LETTER

O. A. Cargill, attorney for Julian, today said he did not know Julian's whereabouts. He said he would decide today whether to reveal the contents of a letter received from Julian last week.

Julian's bond was signed by Mrs. O. A. Cargill, wife of Julian's attorney; Frank Russell and John H. Peacock. Most of the fifty-two defendants were stock salesmen for the C. C. Julian Oil and Royalties Company.

Hitler "Gag" Measure in Germany Inspires Petition; One Nazi Leader Slain in Riots

Berlin, Feb. 6.—A communication to-day in the hands of President Hindenburg from the Federal German Press Association protesting vigorously the restrictions placed on newspapers by the new Hitler régime. The association expressed "deep surprise at the government's proposal to revive or even aggravate the former press gag measure."

Meanwhile, executives of the Centrist Party (Catholic) and People's Party yesterday launched their campaign for the March 5 election and political riots in several parts of the country caused three deaths and injuries to about thirty others. The Centrist leader, Heinrich Brüning, former Chancellor, who was unable to attend on account of illness.

The fatalities brought to more than twenty the number of deaths in Nazi-Communist knife and gun battles since Monday. Nearly 100 others have been wounded, not a few seriously.

Yesterday's fights occurred in the provinces of the Rhine, Silesia, Saxony and Prussia. In Bochum, the Nazi leader, Paul Prager, was shot by Communists. In Breslau one Reichswehrman was killed and eleven wounded in a fight with knives. Another Reichswehrman was slain in Chemnitz.

William H. Funston, Jr., advertising will play a very important part in bringing about improved conditions.

CO-OPERATION WANTED
 "The year 1933 promises to be a year when value must be our watchword. We must give our customers value for every dollar they spend with us. There is a very definite need for unity. I once heard a man say: 'United we stand, divided we fall.' This applies to us in Canada. Co-operation on the part of every citizen will materially assist in solving the problems confronting us."

"You know, after you have traveled through the Canadian prairies, visiting Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Edmonton and Calgary, then crossing the Rockies and on to Vancouver, some one makes the remark: 'Well, our journey ends at Victoria.' You are just as disappointed. Every place has its individual attractions, and you want to go on and see more."

"No one can travel through this wonderful country, hear of its tremendous natural resources, see its forests, its fisheries, its game, without being deeply impressed and feel that Canada will some day play a most important part in world affairs. One of the gratifying things I have learned on this trip is that British Columbia is increasing its production of gold, last year showing an increase of nearly 35 per cent over 1931."

"When a province of this size can, in a year like 1933, produce in its four major industries commodities valued at more than $100,000,000, surely it is a source of pride and confidence. British Columbia has untold possibilities in its mines, forests, fisheries, and fruit farms. Disruption in normal trade means no doubt, adversely affected all of these industries, but with a return to improved business conditions this province should be one of the first to feel the beneficial effect."

STOCKS ARE LOW

When Mr. Funston and Mr. Livingston were in the Maritime Province they noticed a big improvement in business through the ports of Halifax, N.S., and St. John's, N.B. Ships are regularly engaged in loading and unloading for consumption in Great Britain. Over one week-end, they said, the sum of $14,000 was paid out to longshoremen engaged in loading cargoes at Halifax. They noted similarly hopeful developments throughout the west.

Mr. Funston and Mr. Livingston expect to remain in the city until tomorrow.

SEVEN MEN REPORTED ABOARD
 Vancouver, Feb. 6.—When the Airland Manufacturing Company's Junker plane left here for Anyox on Sunday morning, seven men were on board, it was learned this afternoon.

In addition to Pilot Lawson and five provincial police officers, F. M. Staines, mechanic, was also aboard the machine. No trace of the machine or its passengers had been reported at 2:30 this afternoon.

ESCAPES FROM CAR
 Both captives were put in the taxi and Mr. Enouff crossed over to the Strathcona Hotel to telephone the police. As soon as he left the car one of the captives lunged through the open door of the car and escaped.

The officers in the patrol wagon said they had gone from the station to the Rose store and had been directed on the trail of the fleeing youths by Mr. White.

Watches, rings and other jewelry were taken from the store show window. Mr. Rose said he had not completed the list of missing articles this morning, but it includes Rolle's razor, a cigarette case and some other articles. Several things were picked up on Broughton Street after the apprehension of the pair.

When arrested by the officers he gave the name of Verigin. The other youth, who was prevented from escaping by Mr. Calwell and Mr. Watson, gave his name as Cleid.

"You know, after you have traveled through the Canadian prairies, visiting Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Edmonton and Calgary, then crossing the Rockies and on to Vancouver, some one makes the remark: 'Well, our journey ends at Victoria.' You are just as disappointed. Every place has its individual attractions, and you want to go on and see more."

"No one can travel through this wonderful country, hear of its tremendous natural resources, see its forests, its fisheries, its game, without being deeply impressed and feel that Canada will some day play a most important part in world affairs. One of the gratifying things I have learned on this trip is that British Columbia is increasing its production of gold, last year showing an increase of nearly 35 per cent over 1931."

"When a province of this size can, in a year like 1933, produce in its four major industries commodities valued at more than $100,000,000, surely it is a source of pride and confidence. British Columbia has untold possibilities in its mines, forests, fisheries, and fruit farms. Disruption in normal trade means no doubt, adversely affected all of these industries, but with a return to improved business conditions this province should be one of the first to feel the beneficial effect."

STOCKS ARE LOW

When Mr. Funston and Mr. Livingston were in the Maritime Province they noticed a big improvement in business through the ports of Halifax, N.S., and St. John's, N.B. Ships are regularly engaged in loading and unloading for consumption in Great Britain. Over one week-end, they said, the sum of $14,000 was paid out to longshoremen engaged in loading cargoes at Halifax. They noted similarly hopeful developments throughout the west.

Mr. Funston and Mr. Livingston expect to remain in the city until tomorrow.

Seaplane With B.C. Police Squad

In a wireless communication at 1:30 this afternoon, Vancouver police headquarters was informed no trace had been found of the missing plane. Messages were being received regularly from Capt. J. H. McMullen, commissioner of provincial police, in touch with the situation.

SEVEN MEN REPORTED ABOARD
 Vancouver, Feb. 6.—When the Airland Manufacturing Company's Junker plane left here for Anyox on Sunday morning, seven men were on board, it was learned this afternoon.

In addition to Pilot Lawson and five provincial police officers, F. M. Staines, mechanic, was also aboard the machine. No trace of the machine or its passengers had been reported at 2:30 this afternoon.

ESCAPES FROM CAR
 Both captives were put in the taxi and Mr. Enouff crossed over to the Strathcona Hotel to telephone the police. As soon as he left the car one of the captives lunged through the open door of the car and escaped.

The officers in the patrol wagon said they had gone from the station to the Rose store and had been directed on the trail of the fleeing youths by Mr. White.

Watches, rings and other jewelry were taken from the store show window. Mr. Rose said he had not completed the list of missing articles this morning, but it includes Rolle's razor, a cigarette case and some other articles. Several things were picked up on Broughton Street after the apprehension of the pair.

When arrested by the officers he gave the name of Verigin. The other youth, who was prevented from escaping by Mr. Calwell and Mr. Watson, gave his name as Cleid.

Runaway Cruiser Is Chased By Squadron

As a threat to any pursuing force that might come within range, the cruiser's deck bristled with sixteen big guns.

The cruiser was reported to-day as still at large off the coast of Sumatra in the vicinity of Babi Island.

The commander of the cruiser was ashore when the mutiny came to a head yesterday, and he commanded the government steamer Aldebaran, a much smaller vessel, and gave chase.

KRUPP GUNS
 Against the cruiser the Aldebaran would have little chance if the mutineers should start fighting. The seven, built in 1909, is armed with guns made by the famous German firm of Krupp. Its deck carries two 11-inch guns, four 5.9 guns, ten 18-inch guns, and two smaller guns. The vessel, 323 feet in length, normally carries a crew of 400 to 447.

That the Sumatrans are in no pleasant mood was indicated by the report of one of the officers, who escaped after the Zeven had been put out to sea. He said the officers aboard had been forced to surrender at the point of a knife.

SERIES OF OUTBREAKS
 Yesterday's occurrence climaxed a series of mutinies during the last week or ten days. Last Monday there was a brief mutiny on the cruiser and some destruction of cigars and papers; close quarters to the present time, were especially adept in organizing and inciting disturbances against constituted authority.

ORGANIZERS BUSY
 Admissions in the Kingston penitentiary during the month of February, 1932, of certain convicts who were especially adept in organizing and inciting disturbances against constituted authority.

DEPRIVATION OF CONVICTS
 The chief complaints of convicts are summarized in the report as follows: Deprivation of cigarettes, papers, close cropping of hair, lack of recreation and amusement; insufficient open air exercise; lack of newspaper and magazines; insufficient dental treatment; lack of toilet articles, combs and mirrors; punishments improperly awarded for break of rules. They also asked more frequent letters to and from convicts, and increased number of visits to convicts. They complain of lack of paroles, and object to steam-cooked food and monotony of prison diet.

Lignite ash, found in Saskatchewan may be used as a glass for brick and other earthen products, according to a recent discovery made by the ceramics department of the University of Saskatchewan.

RESIGNATION HINTED
 The apparent affront is receiving the attention of the Canadian Press, in which many articles have appeared in recent weeks indicating strained relations between the two leaders of the Canadian Conservative Party. It is widely prophesied Mr. Ferguson is likely to resign and return to Ontario in order to retaliate on Mr. Bennett.

OTHER COMMISSIONERS NAMED
 The Guardian dispatch asserted an announcement of the Canadian Government's representatives on the committee for the proposed new political quarters for the most of the Dominion nominated their High Commissioners, the Bennett ministry named Dr. O. D. Skelton (Under-Secretary of State for External Affairs). The Canadian Government also named Col. Vanier.

"It is realized," continued the cable, "that relations between Mr. Ferguson and Mr. Bennett have been strained for some months, but this is the first occasion the commissioner has been definitely passed over in a public way."

THE APPARENT AFFRONT is receiving the attention of the Canadian Press, in which many articles have appeared in recent weeks indicating strained relations between the two leaders of the Canadian Conservative Party. It is widely prophesied Mr. Ferguson is likely to resign and return to Ontario in order to retaliate on Mr. Bennett.

THE MANCHESTER GUARDIAN'S correspondence suggested probably the explanation was that Mr. Ferguson, unlike other High Commissioners in London, was not a delegate to the Imperial Conference and that it was understood in Ottawa at the time Mr. Ferguson desired to come but Mr. Bennett declined to invite him.

"This," said the Guardian dispatch, "occasioned comment last summer, but the affront to Mr. Ferguson then was not nearly so striking as the decision not to appoint him to the London committee."

IN CANADA HOUSE
 When announcement was made last week of the Canadian representatives to the London committee it was also stated the committee would hold its sessions in Canada House and that the deliberations would be opened with an address by Mr. Ferguson.

LIBERALS OF GREAT BRITAIN
 London, Feb. 6.—A declaration of independence from the National Government by the Parliamentary Liberal Party was voted to-day by its leader, Sir Herbert Samuel, at a luncheon given in his honor by the party whips.

SIR HERBERT DID NOT indicate his Liberal group would cross the Commons floor to the opposition side in what he characterized as "the rubber stamp parliament," but he declared "the Liberal Party is under no obligation to support the National Government as it is now constituted, with its policy as now declared. The Liberal Party is free and independent."

HE WAS STILL reluctant to declare parliamentary co-operation no longer is possible. "But," he said, "it must become impossible when it becomes clear the government has no effective policy. Then it will become the national duty to say so and to take the course which will follow."

HE OBJECTED particularly to the government's protectionist policy, asserting the British tariffs "have been an utter failure."

HIS DECLARATION does not affect the National Liberals, whose chief is Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary.

SWITZERLAND'S UNIQUE ECONOMIC POSITION

There is no mystery as to what caused the European flight of capital; insecurity, coupled with the tremendous burden of taxes imposed upon capital in all the Central European countries. But that this capital went to Switzerland is significant. Mr. George Gerhardt, writing in The North American Review, in a tribute to Switzerland and its stability in days when the rest of Europe has been far from steady.

First, Mr. Gerhardt points out, there is the security of investment in a well-controlled market. And second, and of no mean import, there is the low rate of taxation. It is upon this background that Switzerland grew, without any apparent intention of her own, to be a first-rate financial power. It is the story of a nation which has, through sound economic principles and unswerving neutrality, in politics as well as in finance, built up a confidence which now has brought its rewards. We then read further:

"The principles that have guided this little country with its few millions of inhabitants, may well be studied by the rest of the world, and principally by the great powers. In spite of many attractions inviting large-scale production, Switzerland has remained essentially what she always was: a country catering to the needs of the world as they are, not as she might choose to see them; making a living as best she can; refraining from wild speculation; adhering to old and sacred principles of conservatism. Savings are still going up in Switzerland.

"Swiss cheese, with all its world-wide popularity, is still produced in some 3,000 dairies, most of them rather small. Craft and corruption are unknown quantities in Switzerland. Her credit status is of the highest. She has not tinkered with tariffs, but believes in live-and-let-live. And with all her modesty, she has come to national glory and international reputation.

"It is to be sure, Switzerland has her troubles. She has to grapple with declining exports and steadily increasing unemployment, which numbers 50,000 at the present time. The world crisis has not left her untouched. But in a world which is overflowing with the panaceas of isolation and chauvinism, the 'mother of the Alps' has gloriously stuck to a tradition inherited from centuries of self-restraint and political prudence."

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS DECLINED LAST YEAR

Statistics compiled by the William Ullman service of Washington show that the year 1932 was the first in motor-car history to show a decline in the number of traffic fatalities in the United States, while it also is confidently expected that Britain, France, Germany and Italy will show a similar falling off.

Preliminary estimates place the total of traffic fatalities in the United States between 30,000 and 31,000, a decline of approximately twelve per cent from the 34,000 high-water mark set in 1931. An excellent record during the months of peak traffic in England is counted upon to effect a six to eight per cent reduction in that country's fatality record. Similar reductions in the other major motoring nations are expected, with an average decline of from eight to ten per cent.

The dominant factor in the safety situation, we are told, is the decline in motor vehicle use, reflected in a drop in gasoline consumption. This, however, is off by approximately five per cent from the year of record-breaking travel, 1931, while the decline in accidents is nearly twice that figure. The circumstance indicates to motor vehicle authorities that other factors are to be credited with a share of the progress.

"One of these," it is pointed out, "was the retirement from service of a number of the least mechanically-safe vehicles. In the United States, Germany and France, the number of automobiles licensed for the year was smaller than in 1931. While some of these were in excellent condition, the majority necessitated expensive overhauling. Unable to stand the expense, their owners simply failed to register them."

"To the motorists of England must be given credit for confuting their critics to the greatest degree during the year. The beginning of the year in English motoring was marked by the removal of the arbitrary maximum-speed limit on the open road. During the first three months, an interval in which accident records were closely watched, the record as compared with 1931 became black indeed. It resulted in a loud clamor for a restoration of the speed-limit law, to the removal of which the entire increase in fatalities was attributed.

"The restriction, of course, was not reimposed, and the chances for its being re-established have been made even more remote by the consistent betterment of the accident record during the succeeding interval."

PELICANOCRACY AND TECHNOCRACY

"All the cans in the cannery can come to the aid of the pelican."

We have quoted from The Christian Science Monitor which tells us that the pelicans are said to be interested in technocracy, since the machine age has brought them such a large measure of benefit that they have become thoroughly converted to the proposition of "a little labor and a lot of luxury."

It was not originally easy for the pelican to get his food supplies without a good deal of labor, despite the fact that as 'holder of patents for the first known practical cold storage system it has led all other birds in the promotion of labor-saving devices.' It has, however, been mindful of the inventions of men, hence "its interest in the cause of technocracy at a time when the economic situation has served somewhat to restrict its sources of food supply."

Here is the explanation which The Monitor gives: In early days, the pelican employed such crude methods as diving for the fish which formed its chief source of food supply. And then, at various points, great fish canneries got into operation and ejected sufficient waste product to provide an easy living for vast colonies of pelicans.

In this atmosphere of indulgence pelican youth grew up. The next meal meant no more exertion than a pleasant flight to the nearest cannery establishment. The machine age had removed the days of drudgery, the days when their parents dived and ducked ten hours or more a day for a bit of herring, and often went to bed hungry.

Now many canneries have been closed by economic conditions and the younger pelicans, untrained in the pursuits of their forefathers, are blaming the government for a shortage of food. Hence their enthusiasm for technocracy, with the hope that "all the cans in the cannery can come to the aid of the pelican."

FOUR CENTURIES OF ROMANCE

The birthday anniversary of a city seldom means very much. But there are a few cities which occupy special places in history—cities which came into existence like dreams born of bloodshed and wonder and desire—and when one of these passes a new milestone the event is worth looking at. You might be interested to know, therefore, that the city of Cartagena, in Colombia, recently celebrated its four hundredth birthday.

It was born in 1533, when there were still living men who had sailed with Columbus, when Cortez's daring raid on the empire of the Aztecs was still being talked about. Pizarro's raid on the Inca empire was still in progress. A new world was being opened, an age of gold was dawning. El Dorado was a reality which might lie just beyond the town.

So Cartagena was bound to be a city whose air would be hazy with romance, a city around which legends and dreams would cluster. It became the chief port for the Spanish conquistadors. Twice a year it sent a great fleet of blunt-nosed, top-heavy galleons off to Spain, with breath-taking quantities of gold stowed below decks, painted sails belling out from the creaking yards, perfumed and hard-mouthed grandees at ease in the draped cabins on the high poop.

Pirates knew Cartagena, and soldiers, and gold hunters, and explorers—all the lustiest spirits of one of earth's lushest periods. Francis Drake sacked the place, held it for a time against long odds, sailed away with vast riches. The French followed him, later on, and did likewise; lesser sea-rovers thundered against the sea walls of the port, some of them were caught and hanged in chains, some of them landed in the prison cells of the great fortress and died slowly, in the dark.

The fortress had walls forty feet high and fifty feet thick. Six hundred thousand slaves are said to have been used to build it; thousands of them died before the job was done, and something like $80,000,000 was spent on it. And it is that Cartagena which has just reached its four hundredth anniversary. Can any man with a feeling for romance be indifferent to the occasion?

CANADIAN JUNIOR FARM CLUBS

Last autumn the thoughts of some 22,000 farm boys and girls in Canada turned toward Toronto. At the annual Royal Winter Fair the champion junior teams from each province competed for Canadian championships in six agricultural projects, namely, beef and dairy cattle, swine, poultry, grain and potatoes. This was the second year in which Dominion contests were held under the auspices and direction of the Canadian Council on Boys' and Girls' Club work, in which the Dominion and provincial Departments of Agriculture, the Canadian National Railways, the Canadian Pacific Railway, the Industrial and Development Council of Canada Meat Packers, the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation, Eastern Dairies and the International Harvester Company of Canada Endowment for Boys' and Girls' Club Work hold membership.

Through the organization of this council all junior farm work in Canada has become correlated. It now proceeds under a definite policy country-wide, in aspect, seeking not only to coordinate the work of the clubs themselves in the various provinces, but also to extend the influence of club work toward improving the quality and standard of farm products. For more than a decade junior farm clubs have been recognized in practically all provinces as one of the most effective features of agricultural extension work. One has only to know something of the records of the junior farm clubs in Canada, and to have seen something of the situation in the various districts in which clubs have been operating, to realize the great influence of club work in the matter of improvement in quality of production in both livestock and grains.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

WAR DEBTS
The Toronto Star

"To most impartial observers it is clear that Britain and France will never pay the debt owing to the United States for the simple reason that they are unable to collect reparations from Germany and will be unable to pay. A frank recognition of that fact and of the certainty that complete world collapse would follow an effort by the United States to collect would do much to shorten the period of humanity's sufferings."

Loose Ends

One is convinced in this job that Professor Somebody-or-Other is right—Mr. Woodworth states a profound truth—The Commons are shocked by the impact of an idea—and wake pleasure in announcing an engagement out our way.

By H. B. W.

THEY'RE QUEER

YOU CANNOT conduct a column of this sort for four years without coming definitely to the conclusion that either you or a large part of the public are a bit queer in the head. At the moment I am not sure which it is. Anyway, I am getting the oddest letters from the public that you can imagine. People send me religious tracts which promise me immediate salvation or eternal hell's fire. They send me recently clippings of articles on nudity in Germany, on conditions in the coal-mines of Illinois, on the culture of mushrooms and on the health-giving properties of cycling. One man wrote an impassioned letter against marriage and the propagation of children, with the apparent object of extinguishing the race as soon as possible. Another, taking me for a Deacon, came to these shores like himself, confided in me that he didn't think much of Canadians either. One fellow addressed me as a fellow communist, another condemned me as an anarchist and a third was gratified to read the lines that I was really a staunch Tory. When a chap wrote me to-day and urged me to go into politics and offered to nominate me so that my views might be implemented in law, I began to think that Professor Somebody-or-Other, of Quebec, was right. You recall the professor's recent announcement that there are far more crazy people outside asylums than in them and that, within a short time, we shall all be stark mad. This is the job where you find that out.

LUCID INTERVAL

THE CANADIAN House of Commons, which, after three years of depression, has just begun to admit that there may be something wrong somewhere, must have enjoyed a lucid interval the other day. The newspapers report that Mr. Woodworth, leader of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, the left-wing group, had some things to say about rich men. Mr. Woodworth is inclined to be prejudiced against them, and he told the shocked and scandalized Commons that no richer fortune had ever been built up by honest toil. This was not enough, but he wondered audibly whether the prime minister's vast fortune had been built up by honest toil. This was too much and the Speaker asked him to withdraw. Mr. Woodworth satisfied everyone by saying that he had meant to intimate that Mr. Bennett's fortune had been made dishonestly. But so far as I can read in the newspaper reports, he didn't withdraw his main idea—that no fortune of vast magnitude can be made in one generation by a man's toil.

AND OBVIOUSLY Mr. Woodworth's observation was profoundly true except in a few rare cases. The only income which comes from toil is in the form of wages or salary or the sale of goods which you produce yourself. What comes from investments in whatever form, whether in your own business or other people's, is produced by somebody else entirely. Usually it is produced by the interest on your money, or the increase in the value of your securities, or in plain gambling. A few men, but very few, make large fortunes through their own toil. The only ones I can think of at the moment are the movie stars of Hollywood and the more successful prizefighters, who are rewarded for displaying their own bodies or punching somebody else's.

OLD IDEA

IT IS CURIOUS how widely Mr. Woodworth's name has become known, for months all of a sudden, after years of comparative obscurity. It is the old story of an idea. He has a new idea; or rather he has managed to crystallize his old idea into a movement at the psychological moment when the public is interested. For years he preached the same idea in Parliament and no one paid much attention. I have heard him deliver an admirable speech in the Commons and most of the members walked out on him; they weren't annoyed, they were just bored. Then they would crowd back to listen to some stuffed shirt who painfully elaborated the facts that everyone already knew and thundered out the obvious for half the night. Now that most old notions are at a heavy discount, people are willing to listen to Mr. Woodworth; not necessarily to agree with all his ideas by any means, but to weigh them, to admit that he at least knows what he wants. That is more than you can say for most political parties, whose chief want is to get into office, or to stay there, as the case may be.

THE PUBLIC is willing to consider a new idea on its merits without passion, and I imagine it can only be disgusted or amused at the passionate attacks of members who attacked Mr. Woodworth without any notions of their own, except that of raising the tariff. Mr. Winston Churchill, I think it was, who said he owed his success in life to the fact that nine men came to a meeting without any definite notions. He was the tenth and he always came with a plan which generally was accepted. Mr. Woodworth has come to the meeting with a plan (a lot of which I don't like much) and that gives him an incalculable advantage. It may force his enemies to advance some alternative instead of merely losing their tempers.

CRANKS AND FOOLS. MR. WOODWORTH'S trouble will be that a large army of cranks, disgruntled politicians and fools will try to attach themselves to him. He personally is neither of these things. He is incorruptible, able, cultured and poor, and has a singular lack of bitterness. The first time I met him was at the house of a Winnipeg newspaper man, and naturally conversation turned to the Winnipeg strike. When I turned out that our host had been one of the special constables who, among other things, had arrested Mr. Woodworth years before, the latter thought that a great joke, although the circumstance of arrest were nasty enough. (My friend, however, had proved a rather ineffectual special constable, since he was mounted on a milk delivery horse, and when he attempted to advance on a crowd of strikers, his gallant steed fled and covered the gentle milk route before he could be stopped.) So long as his honesty is not in question, a period of public hatred of this sort doesn't hurt a political leader, as the case of Ramsey MacDonald has clearly shown.

ENGAGED. YOU KNOW, said the little girl from next door to me just now, "I think I'm going to get married. I'm engaged already. I'm engaged with Henry. Henry lives in Vancouver, so he doesn't know I'm engaged with him yet. Next time I go to Vancouver I'll tell him I'm engaged. I think I'll get married so I can have a house of my own and lots of little babies, some boys, some girls, a few chickens and a cow. It's easy to get babies. You just go to the hospital and they'll give you all you want. That's where my brother came from, but the hospital didn't have many just then, so he came all alone. He wasn't much of a baby either, but he's getting better, but he still slobbers his porridge on his bib and walks through the puddles. My babies will be better. I'll get at the hospital and I'll be better than him, after Henry and I get ourselves married. Babies are easy to get at the hospital, but where can we get a cow and some chickens? That's what I want to know."

Other People's Views

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

To the Editor: Mr. Durant, perhaps skillfully gauging present Victoria opinion (outraged because good money was paid recently to see a play—"Too True for Me"—which appeared to send over the payers' heads) was able in his recent lecture to mass his great audience in a concerted drive on the Old Master himself. George Bernard Shaw, I submit, is an unique spectacle and an unprecedented tribute to this Mr. Shaw when a Victoria audience actually forgets its traditional reserve so completely as to stamp, clap and laugh when a flying tackle is engineered at the slippery-heeled Patrician of Paradox.

Yes, said Mr. Durant, it is true Shaw had come back from Russia and told young Anglo-Saxon radicals to stop their hair-splitting and go look, see and do, but just how what he had said had done. He had commenced a transatlantic radio address to the United States with these words: "You boobies."

No wonder the righteous indignation of a great many of the local crowd just had to express itself. If Mr. Shaw over a period of fifty years of interminable gawing has failed to get people's sympathy, his evenness is getting their goat.

Yet the joke is that Mr. Durant himself started his lecture with a similar effect: Communism is greater than human nature and I'm afraid it won't succeed because people are pigs. Yes, gentle reader, he did use the word "pigs."

I submit that a boob is farther along the evolutionary scale than a pig. Though a boob is undoubtedly a reversion to type (not listed by Darwinians), yet a pig has not even got far enough to revert. Boobs eat pigs. C. L. A.

JUST THINK IT OUT!

To the Editor: I note that Mayor Leeming has delivered a public address against the present methods of municipal taxation, chiefly inveighing against what he unwisely described as the single tax bill of 1922. As mayor of this city, I confess that I was charged with the duty of restoring the tax on improvements which for a few years had not been imposed. In that year the debt of the city had reached the appalling sum of nearly $19,000,000, of which $485,000 was left as a deficit legacy from the previous council. The City Council decided its policy as "Pay as you go," and under the advice of its controller struck a rate of 32.08 mills on land at 100 per cent value, and on improvements at 35 per cent valuation. The rate was, however, inadequate, for a further deficit compelled the council under Mayor Hayward in 1923 to impose a tax rate of 39 mills, which provided for every reasonable requirement of the city in that year, and if the "Pay as you go" policy had been adhered to a 39 mill rate would have been sufficient for every year since that time.

But, urged chiefly by real estate speculators, by-laws for the borrowing of monies for various purposes have been imposed upon the city until the tax rate of 42 mills and one has been required to meet the civic requirements. Hence the real offenders for the high rate of taxation are the promoters of borrowing. Debt is the offender first, last and always. Interest paying seems a natural method of financing to all governing bodies in Canada. The British method for municipalities should be instituted. Tax and collect is their method for municipal purposes, and spend only when collections have been made. Generally, I think, interest can be paid from taxes collected. Is not this the only true method?

To place upon the single tax the slightest appropriation for the present quantity of debt is a grossly unfair and incorrect. The single tax, if adhered to in Victoria, would have saved Victoria taxpayers millions of dollars; more particularly if linked to the "Pay as you go" policy.

The debt promoters, the financiers who have plunged the city into the quagmire of appalling liabilities should turn their attention to an unbiased investigation of methods of taxation which, it is perfectly clear, has not been done by the presumed leaders of finance in Victoria.

TAX DELINQUENTS MAY BE HELPED

City Considers Plan For Consolidating Payment of Arrears

Special legislation at the forthcoming session of the house may be sought by the city for the purpose of instituting a tax arrears consolidation scheme to help delinquents of land through non-payment of the charges.

A five-year plan, which would have the effect of encouraging payment of current accounts, was placed before the finance committee this afternoon by a delegation from the Real Estate Board and a recommendation to the council this evening is expected.

Under this scheme unpaid taxes of 1931 and 1932 would be consolidated on one account and the taxpayers given the advantage of meeting it in five yearly installments providing the current bills are paid as well.

A move of this kind is essential to prevent heavy reversions of property this year, it is stated, and with this in mind Mayor Leeming recently had a survey of tax arrears made. It revealed a serious condition as far as the 1932 accounts were concerned, with the small home owner apparently hit the most.

Legislative consent for the plan is required and for this reason, an immediate decision by the City Council is needed so that the necessary steps to place the scheme before the legislature may be taken.

Interdenominational Rally To-night at First United Church; Social Follows

With over twenty young people's organizations co-operating, a very large attendance is expected this evening at the youth rally at First United Church, sponsored by the Religious Education Council.

Eighty young people will receive awards for successful work done at the recent leadership training school. The presentations will be made by Lady Lake, representing the Anglican Church; Mrs. J. S. Patterson, Presbyterian; Rev. G. A. Reynolds, Baptist; and Dr. G. B. Switzer, United Church. John J. Smith will present several equestrian numbers in an organ recital. James Petrie will assist in the musical programme. A brief address by Rev. A. Harding Priest will also feature the programme.

A social will follow the presentation and will be in charge of Lillian Parfitt of Emmanuel Church, Miss Mary Clay of St. Andrew's, Miss Lois Peacy of Christ Church Cathedral, and Miss Charlotte Crawford of First United Church.

Typographical W.A.
Enjoy Banquet

The W.A. to Typographical Union 201 held their annual banquet for their members at the home of Mrs. W. Skett, 1722 Lee Avenue. The table decorations were spring-like with daffodils and a decorated cake as a centerpiece and at each place a dainty boutonniere. Toasts were proposed and ably responded to. Mrs. A. C. Chislett, retiring president, proposed "The King," after which Mrs. A. B. Johnson, the newly-elected president, proposed "The International," ably responded to by Mrs. P. J. Woodley, new vice-president; Mrs. Skett, proposed "The Women's Auxiliary," and Mrs. Chislett responded: "Our Local Union" was proposed by Mrs. F. H. Neelds, and Mrs. J. E. Macdonald proposed "Our Hostess," after which was sung "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow."

A social will follow the presentation and will be in charge of Lillian Parfitt of Emmanuel Church, Miss Mary Clay of St. Andrew's, Miss Lois Peacy of Christ Church Cathedral, and Miss Charlotte Crawford of First United Church.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

CHILD WHO WON'T EAT

The appetitelessness of the young baby tests the wit and patience of any mother. Most mothers feel that it is quite enough to prepare the right food for the baby without having their efforts spurned by a child who won't eat. It is only the older child who refuses because refusal is more exciting than acceptance. The baby is moved by no psychological motives. His refusal means that there is something wrong either with the baby or the diet.

What physical conditions might noticeably affect the baby's appetite?

POOR DIET

Undernourishment leads us straightway into a consideration of the diet. I shall not point out the mistakes in the diet-to-day, but merely the fact that undernourishment is very often accompanied by an appetitelessness that makes it difficult to overcome the condition. If the baby's diet is conspicuously lacking in the essential vitamins, it will deprive him of the materials for growth and gain in weight, such a diet works directly to stifle his appetite and make him indifferent to food. Every food advised for the proper development of the baby has a reason for being included in the diet, and the mother cannot carelessly dispense with any of them without running the risk of undernourishment and an accompanying appetitelessness.

ANEMIA

Anemia, diminished red corpuscles in the blood, is another physical condition that is almost invariably accompanied by appetitelessness. Methods of dealing with anemia must be left to the doctor, but it is more than possible that iron and copper medications and the feeding of foods rich in iron, such as egg yolk, liver and spinach, will be routine measures.

The baby may be having the right foods but be automatically prevented from inhaling sufficient oxygen to keep up a healthy, red corpuscle supply. Any nasal obstruction, such as adenoids, which keeps the child breathing shallowly through the mouth, is certain to cut off his intake of oxygen and encourage anemia.

LACK OF FRESH AIR

It should be apparent that whatever the child's diet or nasal equipment, he cannot flourish unless he is subjected to fresh air and light. The coddled house-plunk who is denied fresh air for fear he will take cold, repays this coddling by successive colds and a consequent appetitelessness that increases his puny condition and the fears of his mother—the merry circle again.

The coming of teeth is generally conceded to affect the child's appetite, as are any imminent illnesses, colds, the childish diseases, and what not. Such effect, though, is only temporary and is succeeded by a ravenous appetite the moment the illness has manifested itself at the child is on the mend. It is chronic appetitelessness, the week after week indifference to food, that must be considered abnormal and rooted in conditions which are in dire need of correction.

To-morrow: "Appetitelessness is Compensated With Overfed Baby."

SISTER
KITCHEN

VARIOUS WAYS TO COOK LIVER

Since liver is considered one of the best foods in the world for building up the blood, many mothers are interested in the methods of cooking it other than frying it with bacon or smothering it with onions.

Calves' liver has soared in price since it has gained its widespread reputation, but beef liver and pig liver are still cheap and quite as valuable as the expensive calves' liver. They are not as delicately flavored, to be sure, but the food value is there just the same.

Creamed liver and bacon is a better dish for small children, than the ordinary fried liver and bacon served in many households.

CREAMED LIVER
Three-fourths pound liver, 4 thin slices bacon, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1½ cups milk, ¼ teaspoon pepper.

Place liver and roll in flour seasoned with salt and pepper. Broil bacon and use drippings to saute liver. Shake liver over a low fire until tender. Meanwhile melt butter, stir in flour slowly and add milk, stirring constantly. Bring to the boiling point and pour over prepared liver. Heat thoroughly and serve on hot food garnishing with crisp broiled bacon.

BAKED BEEF LIVER

This recipe may appeal more to the woman who lives in the country and has buttermilk at hand. However, buttermilk can be purchased at nearly all city dairies.

Two pounds beef liver, 6 thin slices onion, 1 medium size onion, 2 cups canned tomatoes, 2 table spoons sugar, 1½ teaspoon pepper, 13 stewed prunes. Let liver stand in soup buttermilk over night or six or eight hours. When ready to cook remove from buttermilk and wipe dry. Lay bacon over surface and fasten with wooden toothpick. Cut peeled onion in thin slices, and place in well-buttered baking dish. Put liver on bed of onions, add tomatoes, sugar, pepper and stewed prunes with one-half cup of prune juice. Cover baking dish and bake in a moderate oven. Serve from baking dish.

TO-MORROW'S MENU
Breakfast: Chilled apple sauce, cereal, cream, fried cornmeal mush, syrup, milk, coffee.
Luncheon: Vegetable soup, whole wheat, orange fried cakes, milk, tea.
Dinner: Baked beef liver, steamed rice, browned parsnips, salad of Swiss cabbage in lime jelly with toast almonds, chocolate cake with Allgretti icing, milk, coffee.

OTTAWA SCIENTIST VISITS
VICTORIA LAUNDRIES

Here to Aid in Problems of Housewives and Laundries

How to get rid of the dirt without injury to the fabrics is a problem in which the Dominion Government has undertaken to assist the housewives of the nation.

Dr. O. M. Morgan of Ottawa, the young scientist who has been delegated by the National Research Council to devote his time and effort to this problem, has been in Vancouver and Victoria recently, explaining his undertaking.

He is head of the laundry and textile department of the National Research Council, the chairman of which, Dr. H. M. Tory, last week addressed the League of Nations Society in Victoria.

Dr. Morgan's laboratory has been rendering valuable assistance to the laundries of Eastern Canada for two years. Contacts established with the laundry owners of Vancouver and Victoria during their visit will result in the service being extended to the west.

After a week's survey of Vancouver and Victoria laundries Dr. Morgan, in discussing matters with Mr. Pinfold, president of the Victoria Laundries Association, in Victoria, gave this word of comfort to householders who use their services.

"The general practice of Vancouver and Victoria laundries is well above the average. The technique is, in the majority of cases, highly developed, and compares favorably with anything on the North American continent."

One of the reasons for this, it is learned, is that the Vancouver and Victoria laundries have been spending as much as $5,000 a year obtaining scientific reports from a research laboratory in the United States. The hope is now expressed, as the result of a conference between the laundry owners and Dr. Morgan, that most of these services may be obtained from Ottawa, and the money kept in Canada.

Laundry science became a department of the National Research Council at the instance of the Eastern Canadian Laundry Owners' Association. So pleased with its results were they that they recently decided a substantial grant for the work, enabling the staff to be increased.

Dr. Morgan says that his job is to develop the best laundry procedure, the least harmful to the fabrics processed at the least cost to the laundry. One feature has been to ascertain what soap gives the best washing action at the least cost and with the least detriment to the fabric.

COLOR-BIG PROBLEM
Color is also one of the big laundry problems. People accuse laundries of using deleterious ingredients in their washing solutions that cause colors to fade. More often, says Dr. Morgan, it is inferior dye.

As the result of his investigation, agitation is to be begun by the laboratory requiring materials to be stamped with the degree of fastness of the colors. The fastness of most dyes is known, but the laundries can not tell which dye was used without costly and laborious tests.

On two occasions laundries have been saved from costly litigation by the laboratory. A hospital and a club had their names woven into towels. The names came out in the wash and the laundries were blamed. The laboratory investigation showed that the names were at fault. The matter was taken up with the linen manufacturers, who admitted their fault and made good.

Analysis of dirt and how to deal with it is one of Dr. Morgan's chief problems. He has now classed dirt, like Gaul, in three parts—dirt that is soluble in water, dirt that needs soap to dissolve it, and the oily, greasy kind of dirt that neither soap nor water will remove.

Rebekahs Plan
Big Benefit

To-morrow the Colfax Rebekah Lodge No. 1, will hold a large benefit in the Odd Fellows Hall, Douglas Street, both afternoon and evening, the funds raised to be used for charitable work of the order.

In the afternoon there will be bridge, commencing at 2:15 o'clock, also a table of home cooking and tea will be served. In the evening, commencing at 8:45 o'clock, there will be bridge, dancing and a sale of home cooking. Refreshments will be served.

Reservations for bridge may be made by telephoning the general convener, Mrs. W. H. Ozard, E 5879. It is hoped all members and friends of the order will attend and make this a success.

Fate Takes Hand
In Nicknames

By ROBERT GRANDON

An auto wreck gave BRUCE HUMBERSTONE the name of "Lucky."

DOROTHY JORDAN is "Lil Persimmon" and LUPE VELEZ is "Peanuts."

Hollywood—Continuing my collection of rare and curious nicknames, I acquainted Bruce Humberstone in the refectory on Paramount's lot to-day.

Bruce is called "Lucky" by his associates, and I sensed a story back of the name.

"Sure, Bob, I'm lucky," Bruce answered to my questioning. "I got it some years ago when an outpocketed Austin Parker booted the nickname of Billy."

Walter Byron's family call him Tal, and all because his baby sister twisted his name from Walter to Talia. Cozen, Maynard, known around the house as Toad, but even he can't tell you just why this should be.

Herbert Brenon is called Babbs by his intimates. A relic of years ago when he played on the stage.

Robert Woolsey's friends address him as "Cardinal." After all, the name is not badly bestowed. Leon Errol is known as "Gimpy," a title bestowed upon him by W. C. Fields because of his indurubber legs. And Leon came right back at W. C. with "Juggy," because of his ability as a juggler.

Even since "The Wet Parade," Dorothy Jordan's admirers have referred to her as "Lil Persimmon." Just as Cliff Edwards is "Ukelele" and Lupe Velez just can't get rid of the appellation "Peanuts."

STRANGER THAN FICTION
Karl Dan boasts the name of Hansus-Karl Treskosen Gottlieb.

Women's Canadian Club—To-morrow afternoon 2:45 o'clock at the Empress Hotel, Mr. Justice W. M. Martin of the Saskatchewan Court of Appeal will address the Women's Canadian Club on "Canada and International Affairs." Mrs. Harry Leamy will be the soloist.

Splendid Recital
By Violin and
Piano Students

A most successful recital was given by the pupils of Mrs. Ruby Moore on Friday evening at St. Mark's Hall, Associated Board and Toronto Conservatory Music certificates were presented by Mrs. C. L. Hull to the following pupils: Higher Association Board, violin, Harold George and Jack Moore; elementary violin, Margaret Ray (Sontag College); elementary piano, non-optional mention, Audrey Mills; elementary piano, piano, Ian Llewellyn; Toronto Conservatory honors, introductory, Betty Llewellyn.

Mrs. Hull spoke of the splendid progress of the pupils and congratulated them and their teacher on their good work. A beautiful bouquet was presented by Audrey Mills to Mrs. Moore as a token of appreciation on behalf of the class.

Those taking part in the programme were: Piano solos, Barbara Gibbons, Edna Lake, Don Patridge, Ian Llewellyn, Betty Llewellyn, Olive Kilby, Audrey Mills, Marjorie Murray; violin solos, Fred Patridge, Ruth Goodwin, Albert Tilley, Margaret Ray, Melbourne Little, Jack Moore, Miss Leslie, Harold George, Pat Hemberow, violin, duet, Harold George and Melbourne Little; string quartette, Mrs. Hollins, H. George, J. Moore, Miss Leslie and A. Moore; duet, Don Patridge and Jack Moore; boys' ensemble, with Don Patridge as conductor, and Ian Llewellyn at piano; ensemble numbers, Mrs. Ruby Moore, Hemberow, J. The Man Hunters

By MABEL McELLIOTT

(Copyright by NEA Service)

CHAPTER V

The weeks were on and soon it was June. A suddenly hot and breathless summer brooded over the city. The lake burned under a summer sun and girls began to wear their thinnest frocks and shoddy hats even in the downtown district.

To Susan, young and radiant, healthy, it was a pleasant enough life. She looked her best in the summer heat, her hair curled in little ringlets around her delicately flushed face. She had a new sweater suit of blue knitted stuff and felt very much the young business woman wearing it.

Still there seemed no chance of her securing a job. Calls came in dribbled into the office, where a superior young woman in white linen received them and passed them along to the super stenographers of Mr. Claude Blocker, upper class Susan wanted in vain to be called. At last there arrived a day when Mr. Blocker himself stood in the doorway and beckoned to her.

"You—Miss Carey. Will you come here, please?"

Trembling with pleasurable excitement, she complied. Mr. Blocker fingered a penciled slip on his desk. With deep-set black eyes he looked her over, head to foot, and seemed to find the results satisfactory.

He said, "We've a call for a secretary at the Melo Iron Manufacturing Company, West Lake Street. Go up there and do your duty."

Susan accepted the slip from his fingers. He rapped out, after her, as she turned to leave. "Remember, all I've been telling you these months. Climb up, walk like a soldier, smile!" Susan gave a very feeble imitation of the military manner as she took leave of the school martinet, but her knees were shaking under her. She was not sure the automatic Mr. Blocker of the super business methods would approve of her just then so she did not want to find out.

Joisting through the State Street crowds, through hordes of women shoppers on the trail of juicy bargains, the girl felt suddenly uplifted. Mr. Blocker's lectures, listened to so wearily for so many days, were jumbled together in her brain in muddled fashion. One thing was certain; she must not seem timid. She must appear sure of her self at all costs.

The facade of the building housing the Melo Company was anything but appealing. Huddled under the elevated tracks, smoke stained and weather worn, it seemed to the job seeker to have a slightly sinister air. Susan consulted the slip again. Yes, it was the right number. Mentally girding herself for battle, she swung the heavy, dirty glass door inward.

A red headed office boy, chewing gum, sat behind his ancient partition near the door. Behind him loomed stoves of all sizes and quality. After the heat of the street the place had a fetid coolness that reminded her of an unused cellar.

She advanced and said to the red-haired boy in what she hoped were the proper tones, "I wish to see Mr. Petterman. I am from Block's Institute."

With a cynical gaze the youth rose and shambled toward the rear of the store. Susan's eyes, gradually accustoming themselves to the grey light, could make out in the far corner the figure of a man at a large, old-fashioned roll top desk. A single bulb, shaded by a folded sheet of letter paper, burned above his head.

"Ugh, what a dismal place!" she murmured to herself. Somehow in her dreams of crisp, efficient offices there had been nothing like this.

The boy shuffled toward her and pointing vaguely in the direction of the swinging electric bulb mumbled, "Miss Petterman'll see ya."

Susan passed through the gate and picked her way, step by step, over the unbelievably filthy floor to the desk where the man sat.

She heard an oily voice say ingratiatingly, "Sit down, young lady."

Shuddering inwardly, Susan slipped into the armchair beside him. The man called Petterman had a long sharp nose and hollow skin. His dark suit was crumpled and spotted. He wore a high starched collar that should have gone to the laundry several days ago.

His pale blue eyes, watering under sandy brows, repelled the shrinking girl. She reminded herself sternly of her obligation to Aunt Jessie, of Mr. Block's probable disappointment if she failed, and only by the exercise of will power was she enabled to endure another moment of the man's company.

"Experience," barked the man, suddenly harsh-voiced after the oiliness of his approach.

Susan shook her head. "I haven't any. I'm a beginner."

The man smiled and his smile was curiously enough, uglier than his frown. He said, "Well, well, we can't all be experienced. We'll teach you. You'll learn. You won't here he smiled horribly again. "Find me a hard taskmaster."

Susan shrank into the farthest corner of the oaken chair.

"I hope not."

Petterman hitched his own chair several inches nearer.

"Salary's $18 to start and we work Saturday afternoons. No nonsense about us. Eight to 5.30. Expect punctuality."

The pale blue eyes bulged at her. The man seemed to be waiting for an answer. Susan murmured, "Of course."

Petterman nodded. "You'll do. How old are you?"

"I'll be twenty in October," Susan faltered. The answer seemed to please him. He leaned toward her and she caught the repellent odor of old cigars.

"You'll do all right. It's a fault soon overcome," he mouthed, managing to come as close as possible to Susan. "We'll get along." Petterman's bony hand snapped out and closed over her round wrist.

"Mighty pretty little piece," he whispered hoarsely. Susan had great difficulty in repressing a scream. She got to her feet. There was a brief struggle in the course of which the swinging light bulb was broken and the man received a short but stinging slap on the cheek. Through the nightmare Susan was conscious of the red-haired boy staring at her. How she got past the wooden gate, how she managed to pull open the heavy door and reach the street she never knew. But suddenly she found herself, dazed and shaking, walking safely along under the sky.

She had the utmost difficulty winking back the tears. So this was what life-downtown was like! This was the sort of thing you had to endure if you were to earn your own living. She thought, almost with awe, of Aunt Jessie's prophecies about lecherous old men in the Loop district, Aunt Jessie, had been right. When they are out of the water but some children think these large birds cannot fly. But they can. Once they get started. First they start swimming very fast in the water. Then they sort of jump up and run on top of the water with their flat feet, at the same time flapping their big wings, and at last they rise like an airplane and go flying away.

When Uncle Wiggly reached the pond beneath the evergreen trees, he saw that there was ice all around the edges. There was a place in the middle where the water wasn't frozen. Swans were swimming around in a circle as fast as he could paddle.

"Hello, Hisser!" called Uncle Wiggly. Hisser being the name of the swan because that was the way he talked.

"Hello!" answered the large, white bird.

"I came to see if you were frozen in," went on the rabbit gentleman. "Nurse Jane thought you might be, for it was very cold last night."

"No, thank you. I'm not yet frozen in," said the swan.

"Why don't you stop paddling and talk to me about the rabbit gentleman?" asked the rabbit gentleman.

"Well, ask away," spoke the swan.

"But I can't talk to you if you keep paddling like a merry-go-round all the while," said Uncle Wiggly, laughing.

"I dare not stop paddling or swimming," said the swan. "If I stop, for even a little while, the water in my middle—my head, my tail, my legs—solid like that on the edge. I must keep moving and keep the water moving or I will freeze in. Moving water, you know, does not easily freeze."

"Yes, I know," Uncle Wiggly said. "That's why, on cold nights, we leave the water running in our bungalow sink. But never mind about your pond freezing. If it does you can stay in my bungalow. Come out of your pond on shore. I have something to tell you."

"All right," answered the swan. So he paddled to the edge of the ice, climbed up and waddled towards the rabbit, and no sooner had he done this than "Crack!" the middle of the pond which had been open water up to this time, froze in the twinkling of an eye.

"Oh, look-what happened!" cried Hisser. "Look!" But Mr. Longears told the swan not to worry, for everything would be all right. And if the hair-brush will put some finger nail polish on the electric light to make it look like a strawberry, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggly's gold ring.

Horoscope

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1933

Genetic aspects rule strongly to-day, according to astrology. It is a way especially helpful to workers of many vocations.

Under this direction of the stars, judgment should be reliable and vision true. Fairly lucky for beginnings.

Commerce should benefit while this planetary government prevails. Both Atlantic and Pacific merchant marines are under a promising way.

In this year 1933 remarkable celestial conditions seem to presage tremendous events in human experience. The triple conjunction of Jupiter, Mars and Saturn in the sign of Virgo is read as most significant. It affects the food supplies of the world.

Great and working conditions of the world, since it affects the food supplies of the world. It is prognosticated.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of good fortune and much gain through congenial occupations.

Children born on this day probably will be brilliant, witty and successful. Subjects of this sign usually have a keen sense of humor and strong love of life.

Charles Dickens, famous English novelist, was born on this day, 1812. Another who celebrated it as a birthday was William Pitt, 1807, thirteenth President of the United States.

Canadian Press
Melbourne, Australia, Feb. 6.—The government to-day announced the Commonwealth Bank had agreed to advance the "Loan Council" £4,000,000 with which to complete the current year's loan programme.

The advance was agreed on after the Loan Council had accepted the bank's terms that no further work should be financed next year and that no more funds should be raised by issue of treasury bills. Last week the council told the bank it would need £6, 000,000 to complete its programme.

At that time the bank said it would advance no more than £3,000,000.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

The secretary wishes to meet two representatives from each of the senior troops in the Inter-Troop Football League at the district headquarters on Tuesday, February 7, at 7.30 p.m., to discuss matters of importance.

The regular weekly meeting of the first aid class conducted by A. J. Dal-lain will be held in the district headquarters on Tuesday, February 7, at 8 p.m., and all members of the class and others who wish to join are urged to attend.

VICTORIA ROVER CREW
On Thursday, February 23, at the district headquarters, 1034 Johnson Street, P. Napier Denison, superintendent of the Meteorological Observatory at Gonzales Heights, will deliver, under the auspices of the Victoria Rover crew, an illustrated lecture on "Earthquakes." Rover, patrol leaders and scouters are cordially invited to attend.

ST. COLUMBA SEA CADETS
The official opening of the Strawberry Vale Hall as headquarters of the St. Columba Troop of Sea Cadets will take place on Friday, February 10, at 8 p.m. in the form of a social evening, when warrants will be presented to
A. M. J. by District Commissioner
Major J. Wise, who will also say a few words on the aims and objects of scouting.

All are invited to be present, and it is hoped that as many scouts and local residents as possible will make an effort to attend. Tea, coffee, cake and sandwiches will be served by the St. Columba Troop of Sea Cadets and some talented artists have offered their services in order to make the evening a success.

THIRD VICTORIA-ST.
BARNABAS TROOP
The monthly meeting of the Third
Victoria-St. Barnabas Troop and Pack committee, will be held at district headquarters, 1034 Johnson Street on Tuesday, February 7, at 8 p.m. A cordial invitation to attend is extended to all parents of boys of the troop and pack.

ST. PAUL'S FIRST ESQUIMALT PACK
The regular weekly meeting of the St. Paul's First Esquimalt Pack was held in the scout headquarters on Monday. The meeting opened with flag-break and the grand howl. Several games were played and instruction in star tests was carried on during the meeting.

Senior Sister George Buckingham left the pack, and acting sister, Bobby Williams was promoted to the rank of senior sister, receiving his second star and senior sister's stripes. During the meeting, Miss Mary Williams and Duncan Maclean, received their first stars. The meeting was brought to a close.

Convention of Anglican Association Closed Yesterday; Bishop Installs Officers

The second annual provincial convention of the Anglican Young People's Association concluded yesterday evening, with installation of officers by the Bishop of Columbia. The ceremony took place at St. John's Church, and was attended by a large congregation.

James Walker of Vancouver was installed as provincial president, Jack Aylin of Victoria as vice-president, Halford Wilson of Vancouver as secretary and Allison Peck of Vancouver as treasurer.

Canon F. A. P. Chadwick, rector of St. John's, presided at the dinner, which was held at the Victoria Hotel. The delegates attended morning services at the cathedral, when the preacher was Rev. A. Harding Priest. A handsome banner, made by a Victoria member and presented to the Victoria Council, was dedicated by Dean Quinlan.

The fifty out-of-town delegates were entertained to luncheon at the homes of local delegates and at 2:30 o'clock the convention reassembled in front of the cathedral for a group photograph.

BRANCH PROBLEMS
The closing business session of the hall at 3 o'clock, with J. Maycock of Vancouver in the chair. The principal address was given by Rev. Mr. Priest, his discussion of the objectives of the association being followed by an open forum on branch problems.

Committee reports were followed by election of officers, the slate submitted by the nominating committee being unanimously adopted.

BANQUET SATURDAY
The annual banquet was held at the Dominion Hotel on Saturday evening, the chair being occupied by Stanley C. Hawkins, president of the provincial council. More than 100 delegates and guests attended, including Right Rev. C. D. Schofield, Bishop of Columbia, Mayor Leeming and Dean Quinlan.

Mayor Leeming was one of the principal speakers, and warmly praised such bodies as the Anglican Young People. He believed their work to be of vital worth in developing good citizenship, as good government could only be founded upon righteousness.

Bishop Schofield replied to the toast to the church, referring to the strength given the church by its young people. Dean Quinlan replied to the toast to the guests.

The entertainment programme included vocal numbers by Miss C. Reeves and Miss K. Smith, Miss Mae Phillips, piano, and Charles Medley, violin.

Following the banquet the Victoria council were hosts to the visitors at a dance at the Crystal Garden.

FUNERAL TUESDAY
The funeral of the late John Edward Kinsman, who passed away on Saturday, will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, at the Thompson Funeral Home, Canon F. A. P. Chadwick officiating. Interment will be in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

NEWS IN BRIEF

A roof fire at 1020 Catherine Street Saturday night and a chimney fire at 1085 Moss Street yesterday evening were attended by the fire department. The damage was not serious.

The monthly Fellowship meeting will be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the Y.W.C.A. W. A. Ruscoe, of the Heart of Africa Mission, will relate some of his experiences in Africa. All interested in foreign mission are invited.

C. L. Harrison will show slides of Forbidden Plateau at a meeting of the Oakland Parent-Teacher Association in the school at 8 o'clock to-night. All residents of Oakland district are invited to attend.

Perkins passing Askey's Fish Market, 424 Yates Street, gaped with surprise this morning at the size of a giant hanging outside. Cleaned and trimmed, the fish weighed over 150 pounds. When it was caught off Jordan River it probably weighed 300 pounds.

The monthly meeting of the Sir James Douglas Parent-Teacher Association will be held at 8 o'clock this evening. At 8:30 o'clock an illustrated lantern lecture will be given by Rev. E. A. Henry, of Fairfield United Church, on "A Tour Through England and France."

The City School Board will hold its regular meeting on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. An early decision on the question of salary reductions for teachers is expected, but there is some doubt as to whether it will be concluded Wednesday, as negotiations are reported not completed to date.

V. M. Clarke, 321 View Street, has been granted a Spanish building permit for erection of a six-roomed frame stucco dwelling on Cadboro Bay Road, at cost of $1,500. Mr. Clarke will erect the building himself. Four other permits were issued at the Royal Oak Municipal Hall last week, the aggregate value being $2,435.

Martin H. Carmody of New Haven, Conn., Supreme Knight of the Knights of Columbus, will broadcast an address from Vancouver to-morrow evening at 5:45 o'clock. The lecture has been added half an hour, having been originally scheduled to take place at 5:15 o'clock in the course of the Vancouver lodge in the course of a transcontinental tour, but will be unable to visit Victoria.

The Victoria Ministerial Association this morning at the Y.M.C.A. endorsed a request from the B.C. Prohibition Association for temperance education in the lighted windows of hotels and restaurants. The matter was presented by a delegation headed by W. T. Smith, Dean Quinlan spoke on "Deepening the Spiritual Life," and several members contributed to the discussion. Rev. C. A. Reynolds presided.

At the request of the Quiescent Board of Trade a rotary snowplow has been ordered rushed to Prince George from the Peace River district, and will be used to keep the Devil's Canyon road open during the winter. A smaller plow is now in use, but as heavy falls of snow are expected during the month, the Department of Public Works is taking precautions to insure that the highway will be kept open to reach properties in the Cariboo now being developed.

Councillor B. A. "Bob" Anderson, one of the most popular figures in Esquimalt's municipal politics, was reported improving to-day after a severe heart attack which occasioned his removal to St. Joseph's Hospital early yesterday. The veteran councillor, who first took his seat on that board when the municipality was incorporated, and who returned to it after several years spent outside municipal politics, led the poll for council at the last election. He is under the care of Dr. Stuart Kenning, who announced gain this morning after a troubled night.

Reports being circulated among unemployed that one of the inspectors appointed by the Provincial Government to check conditions, informed today that they need expect nothing more from the unemployment committee until they adopted militant methods are being investigated by Hon. R. W. Truitt, Minister of Public Works. The report in question was mimeographed and circulated through a local publication issued by the unemployed, and the government officials take the stand that such inspectors are employed to report on conditions in camp, not to give advice.

Louis Schmelz, who came to this country thirty years ago from Germany, was approved to-day by Judge Lampan for Canadian citizenship. Mr. Schmelz testified to his application in court and was supported by Robert Fess and Gilbert Fraser, both of whom took the stand and testified he was worthy to become a Canadian. Axel Christiansen from Scandinavia also had applied for citizenship papers, but at the last minute he proved unable to appear in court, and his application was postponed to next month when he will hear witnesses.

Members of the British Public Schools Club, at their annual meeting in the City Hall on Friday evening, elected Dr. E. C. Hart president for the ensuing year. He succeeds L. G. Bristol, who is at present in Great Britain. A. I. Robertson, vice-president; H. Dunford, C. A. Le Mesurier, P. E. Parker, H. B. Bates, T. N. Armit, M. D. A. Duffin and W. F. Hudson, members of the executive committee for 1933. Ismay, Bolton and Holden were named auditors. The secretary and treasurer and other yearly appointments will be made by the executive committee. Satisfactory reports were presented by the secretary and treasurer. The financial statement showed the club to be in good standing. A motion to change the name of the Empire Club was defeated after lengthy discussion.

A splendid concert took place on Friday evening last in the Orange Hall by the City Lodge Local True Blue. The girls and boys juvenile Orange lodges were guests of the order. P. Merryfield delighted everyone with his magic and his daughter, Frances, with her dancing. Misses Strommen and Nancy White, pupils of Miss Jewel, put on some clever dances and Miss Murdoch and Miss Pollock. Miss Olive Edmunds and Clifford Beckett sang "Mother Love" and, as an encore, "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling." Miss McKinnon and Miss Atchison gave a piano and violin solo. Mrs. Pauline and Miss Kendall acted as accompanists.

The business meeting of the club was held on February 17, when several candidates will be initiated. A social evening will be held to-night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mackay, 1022 Cloverdale Avenue.

Bennett To Review Seaplane Embargo

Prime Minister Investigates Order Prohibiting Use of Inner Harbor Chamber of Commerce Learns Defence Authorities Guided By Shipping Interests

Premier Bennett has personally arranged for an investigation into the embargo against use of the Inner Harbor by seaplanes. Recently the Chamber of Commerce vigorously revived its campaign for opening the Inner Harbor to aerial transportation, and the directors this afternoon received from Premier Bennett the following letter:

"I have your letter, enclosing copy of resolutions adopted by your Chamber of Commerce respecting the removal of the embargo prohibiting licensed and regulated seaplanes from using the waters of Victoria Harbor."

"I will have such an investigation made as will enable me to reply to your letter."

The directors also had before them a letter from L. R. LaFleche, Deputy Minister of National Defence, stating that the embargo was not a military one, but a civil one, and that the problem locally, I do not think either the Marine Department or this department would continue their objection."

He also explained the objection to the use of the Inner Harbor to be originate with marine interests, adding: "There is no doubt that the area is restricted, and if too many seaplanes use the harbor the freedom of navigation would suffer."

"So long as the shipping interests using Victoria Harbor object, the department will not issue a license for seaplane base there," Mr. LaFleche added.

A third letter, from Hon. Alfred Durnan, Minister of Marine, briefly stated, "I have to inform you that we have not changed our opinion regarding this matter."

The directors tabled the correspondence pending further advice from Premier Bennett.

City Begins Legal Battle Before Court of Appeal For Assessment Reversal

H. A. Maclean, K.C., as counsel for the City of Victoria, had completed arrangements at noon to-day to open this afternoon Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald cutting in half the municipal assessment for taxation on St. Louis College.

The city's efforts to have the McDonald judgment thrown out are being made before the Court of Appeal, C. H. O'Halloran as counsel for the Bishop of Victoria, who holds the title of the property for the church, is opposing the city's move.

City Hall officials are in court to keep close touch with the developments in the appeal, as the whole assessment structure of the city, it was explained, depends on this case.

J. W. deB. Farrar, K.C., this afternoon concluded his argument as counsel for Laura McEwen, administrator of the estate of Hiram Stevenson and for the heirs of James Proudfoot, in the appeal involving the allocation of part of the fortune left by Dan Lindberg against Mr. Farrar in the settlement of the last two days of last week. The case was argued by J. W. deB. Farrar, K.C., and F. D. Pratt, as counsel for Arthur Cosens, Verena Mabel Cosens, J. Hubert Hemsworth, executors of the Lindberg estate.

Mr. Farrar was victorious in the Supreme Court before Mr. Justice Fisher, and Mr. McEwen brought the case before the Court of Appeal in an effort to obtain a reversal.

Many Tributes To Late Frank Cooke

A large congregation attended the impressive funeral services held Saturday afternoon for Frank Cooke, late president of the Esquimalt Board of Trade and of the Canadian Pensioners' Association, and executive member of the Esquimalt Conservative Association. Delegation from each of these bodies were present, and Reeve Albert Head represented the municipality.

The service at the chapel was conducted by Canon H. W. G. Stocken of St. Martin-in-the-Fields Church. Two hymns were sung, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," and "Peace, Perfect Peace." The casket was surrounded by a wealth of floral tributes. Following the service, a cortege proceeded to Ross Bay Cemetery, where burial took place. The following acted as pallbearers: C. H. Smith, P. Beaven, R. Elwood, A. J. Whiffle, J. L. Fes and E. G. Corless.

BURIAL IN MANTOVA
Funeral services will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock for Harry Burridge, late of the Metropolitan Hotel, who passed away in the Jubilee Hospital Friday. He was born in England sixty-two years ago and was a member of the I.O.O.F. Canon F. Chadwick will conduct the service, after which the remains will be forwarded to Neepawa, Man., for interment.

Victoria Gyro, at their luncheon in the Empress Hotel to-day, paid tribute to the memory of the late Clarence Leighton, late of the Metropolitan Hotel, who passed away in the Jubilee Hospital Friday. The members through his associations with the local club, E. V. Finland spoke of the death of Mr. Leighton in Calgary recently. He had been one of the greatest Gyros Victoria had known, he said. During his term as international president, in 1926 and 1927, he had visited every club in the movement. He had lived the principles of Gyro and had made the movement much richer for his membership in it. Mr. Finland said.

HEAR ADDRESS ON INFLATION

Points For and Against Policy Outlined to Gyro Club By Hugh Allen

Of Benefit to Debtors and Men With Fixed Higher Incomes

To the debtor and the merchant, to whom the greatest benefits would accrue, inflation would appear desirable, but to the man with a steady income or fixed salary, deflation was preferable, Hugh Allen told members of the Gyro Club in an address on "Inflation" at their luncheon in the Empress Hotel to-day.

Many features apart from currency itself entered into the question of inflation, the speaker said.

Overproduction played an important part in the issue. Production in average years as seen in the increased output of goods and services increased about 3 percent a year. The production of gold, on the other hand, usually went up about 2 percent a year. A condition of overproduction did not necessarily follow the creation of a surplus of goods in one country and a scarcity of them in another, Mr. Allen said.

GATEWAY CLOSED
Such a condition was vitally related to currency matters inasmuch as the gateway through which the goods passed from one country to another was money. When money was lacking on the consumers' side, the gateway became closed.

In addition to the actual transfer of money in such dealings, credit also played a major part. But when the gold piled up in one country, the gateway of trade was closed, he said.

Such a condition gradually grew up from 1920 to 1928, the speaker said, noting the fact that leading producers in the United States had not moved up commensurately. As a result money markets were tight and credit drying up of business and the inevitable fall in prices attending the slump.

In the slump the man with the good salary or fixed income gained the greatest advantage from depressed prices, while the wage earner, who soon found his savings depleted, and the merchant felt the pinch. Hence, the speaker would find a definite appeal in deflation, while the latter would seek inflation.

Touching on money matters generally, he explained the reason for the choice of gold as the background for all money standards at present. Credit, he said, was built up on the faith of a people.

While credit would carry a lot of the work of finance, gold was necessary to settle international dealings, he added.

The speaker outlined various methods whereby a country could inflate its currency. He noted such policies as increasing the money supply, and the payment of debts.

POLICY QUESTIONABLE
The actual gain to business from such a policy was questionable, Mr. Allen said. Rising prices would apparently bring some prosperity, but the unsettled conditions following rapid rises in prices would probably eventually offset the immediate gain.

Some believed inflation would lead to difficulty over external debts, while others maintained a country could all but ignore its foreign obligations, which would probably eventually offset the immediate gain.

One of the greatest evils was thought to be the destruction of credit through inflation. In view of the fact it was tantamount to a breach of faith with the people who had accepted the standard rate, it would have an evil effect, he said.

PARK FILMS TO BE SHOWN

New Pictures Will Feature Annual Meeting of Publicity Bureau Wednesday

Showing of three new films, taken by the National Parks Department at Ottawa, will feature the annual meeting of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau at the Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday. The meeting of the bureau was held at the Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday. The meeting of the bureau was held at the Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday.

J. C. Campbell, director of publicity for the National Parks Department, consented to-day to show the new films for the public. The films were taken on the coast, "Hunting Without a Gun," "Strange Doings in Beaverland," and "Here and There With the Birds of Canada," are the titles of the pictures. The last-named includes some shots taken on Vancouver Island.

During the meeting the financial statement and annual report of the directors will be submitted.

Funeral Here Of Calgary Woman

There passed away at Calgary on February 1, Mrs. Ada Elizabeth Thompson, in her sixty-eighth year. Born in York, England, she had resided in Calgary for the last ten years. She is survived by three sons, Edwin Walter and Harry Cecil Thompson of London, England, and Charles Edgar Thompson of the Customs Service, Port Angeles. The remains are resting at the Sands Mortuary Ltd.'s chapel from where the funeral will take place to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock. Mrs. O. L. Jull will officiate and the remains will be laid at rest in Royal Oak Cemetery.

No change in the prescribed list of books for students in elementary schools and but one substitution in high school texts will be seen this year, it was announced by Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, following a meeting of the Council of Public Instruction on Saturday.

Birthday Greetings Are Extended To-day To—

J. C. NEWBURY
A. M. D. FAIRBAIN
JOHN W. SLUGGETT
CHARLES F. SLUGGETT

JOHN COWPER NEWBURY
Mr. Newbury, 800 George Road West, is a well-known old-timer of the city and province, and is celebrating a birthday to-day. He was born in Staffordshire, England, in 1862, and came with his parents to Victoria seventy years ago to join his uncle, Jess Cowper, a wealthy property owner here in the early days. Before he was sixteen, Mr. Newbury had matriculated from the old Victoria High School as the first winner of the Governor-General's medal for the leading student in the province. He still had his seventeenth birthday to come when he became principal of Craigflower School. At twenty-one he entered the customs service, in which he stayed for forty-one years. When his father-in-law, who was a surveyor of customs, died, Mr. Newbury became collector of customs, a position which he held until his retirement seven or eight years ago. It is interesting to note that different members of the Newbury family, by blood and marriage, have a record of over 175 years in the customs service.

A. M. D. Fairbairn, private secretary to His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, celebrates a birthday to-day. He was born in South Africa and educated in London, Germany, and the University of Cape of Good Hope. He practiced law in the Transvaal before he came to Canada in 1913. A man of many accomplishments, Mr. Fairbairn is an author, actor, playwright, tennis player and golfer.

Congratulations on his seventy-fifth birthday are being extended to-day to John W. Sluggett, one of the old pioneers and a resident of Saanich for the last fifty-seven years. Mr. Sluggett was born in Owen Sound, Ontario, in 1858, and came to Saanich in December, 1876. His friends took the opportunity to extend to him their heartfelt good wishes to-day.

In the same family congratulations are also being extended to Charles F. Sluggett on his nineteenth birthday. He is the second son of Mr. Sluggett.

Chamber of Commerce Supports Appeal For Federal Subsidy

The application of the Victoria Cold Storage and Terminal Warehouse Company Limited, for a Dominion Government subsidy was this afternoon unanimously endorsed by the directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce. G. H. Stevens, vice-president, occupied the chair.

The action was taken upon recommendation of a special committee, headed by Reg. Hayward, M.P.P., which had investigated an application from J. A. LaRue, receiver of the company, for support. The application was accompanied by a review of the company's success in shipping salmon and fruit to England, and Mr. LaRue's assurance that the warehouse would become a valuable part of the city's port facilities if given assistance similar to that accorded many other terminal cold storage plants.

Reeve Mayhew asked if, by endorsement, the chamber would be unfair to cold storage plants in the city. W. T. Straith said that, when the cold storage plant was first mooted, the city had engaged to support application for a federal subsidy. The endorsement had been accorded, and Mr. Straith believed the chamber would be acting correctly to swing behind the movement for assistance.

Rangers And Detroit Win And Retain In Tie For Lead

Former Turn Back Americans 4 to 1; Wings Blank Hawks

Put-out Victory of Detroit Gives Goalie Roach Best Record in N.H.L.

OTTAWA SCORES SURPRISE WIN

Inter-Canadians Are No Match For Maroons and Are Beaten 7 to 2

John Ross Roach, the aging puck-stopper from Port Perry, is genuinely tickled to-day over the National Hockey League lay-out. Detroit is tied at the top of the United States section with Rangers. The least-scored-on goalie in the circuit is John Ross Roach himself. Roach and Tiny Thomson, Boston, have scored more shut-outs than any other netman—seven. And, lastly, John Ross put one over his most-feared rival, slap-stick Charlie Gardiner, yesterday evening.

It was a close thing as 11,000 Detroit fans watched the duel of Roach and Gardiner. Four minutes from the end of the third period Gardiner's Hawk defence slipped wide open, stepped Herbie Lewis and Happy Adams and Lewis shot the puck past Roach to give the Red Wings a 2 to 1 victory.

Down at the other end of the rink each smiled a happy smile.

ANGERS WIN

Detroit's triumph kept them even with Rangers, who humbled the Americans, 4 to 1, and pushed them down to third place in the Canadian section. Cecil Dillon, Butch Keeling and Joe Somers scored before the Cook brothers engineered the Hawks' winning run. Johnny Sheppard got a only American goal.

While Toronto Maple Leafs were held to a 2 to 2 tie Saturday night by Chicago, Montreal Maroons, who seem likely to be the finishing touch to the feeble Canadiens, beating them, 7 to 2.

Leaves held a good working margin. Leafs held a 2 to 1 lead in the third period, but only Joe could they beat Gardiner. Tommy Cook gave Chicago lead in the first period and King Kluge in the second.

Another pair Lorne Chabot in the same session and Harvey Jackson attached it.

Ottawa Senators scored a surprise 4 to 3 home against Boston Bruins to tie a 3 to 2 decision. Deane Roche and Red Kilrea scored the first two goals for the Senators.

Joe Howe's pounding shots past brilliant young Bill Beveridge for the Bruins goals.

New York, Feb. 6.—Before a packed house, more than 16,000 excited fans, New York Rangers took their fourth win of the season, beating the Chicago Blackhawks 4 to 1.

The Hawks, who were leading the league, were rebuffed by Art Somers, Butch Keeling and Butch Keeling. The other Rangers goals, while Johnny Sheppard tallied for the Hawks.

First Period—1, Rangers, Dillon (Ottawa), 19:25. Penalties: Dillon, Stettin, Jackson, Brennan, Johnson, 19:25.

TWO HAT-TRICKS PULLED OFF IN SINGLE MATCH

City remained a point in the rear, tied for second place. Hull City beat Doncaster Rovers 2 to 1, while Chester went down before Wolves 3 to 2, and took the lead in the southern section by one point.

Glasgow, Scotland, Feb. 6.—Twenty-two teams ploughed through week-end mud in the second round of the Scottish Football Cup series, and to-day eight had advanced to the third round. Four of the eleven games Saturday were tied. Dundee had already beaten Brechin on February 1.

Watt's Three Goals Feature Soccer Win

Pulls Off Hat-trick as Second Team Defeats First Eleven in Charity Match

Final Score Is 4 to 2; Jokers and Outer Wharf Rangers Play to 1 to 1 Tie

With John Watt pulling off the hat-trick the second team defeated the first eleven 4 to 2 in the charity football match on by the Pacific Coast Football League at the Athletic Park on Saturday afternoon. The match was staged as the opening feature of the Sports Week being sponsored by the Victoria Kiwanis Club and drew a good attendance. The two teams were selected as the result of a vote taken of the fans at the last intercity match.

The ceremony of kicking the ball off was performed by Mayor Leeming who was accompanied to the centre of the field by Torchy Peden, Victoria's world famous bike rider, J. B. Clearhouse, president of the Kiwanis Club and Mayor W. C. Angus, president of the Victoria division of the Coast League. Saturday was "Torchy Peden Day" and the great athlete received a fine hand from the fans. The Boys' Band was in attendance and rendered several selections.

The first team played as the Reds and the second as the Blues. The former was practically the same eleven that represented Victoria in the last intercity match against St. Saviours.

The Blues displayed a marked superiority throughout the entire match. Their forwards combined better; while their halves and backs turned in a much superior performance to that of the Reds.

After play had been in progress for the opening minutes, the Blues went into the lead after five minutes. Peden, who was in the goal, kicked a shot to the small side of the net. The Reds pressed and Williams was pulled up for charging. Bettsman, Peers and Robinson headed Gibbons' centre. De Costa made a fine save of Peers' header and after dropping the ball, fell on to it and recovered and in a scramble of players, Gibbons handled just outside the penalty line and De Costa scooped up Williams' low shot to clear.

Watt's scores again. John Watt put the Blues ahead 2 to 0 when he worked in close to score with a high shot to the corner. Shortly after Watt drove over the bar from close quarters. The other end, Robinson had a good opening on a pass from Morgan but passed to Youson and Crowe cleared. De Costa dived full length to push a shot from Price around the post for a close call. The half-time whistle found the Blues leading by two goals.

The Reds forced two corners with three, and Victoria two. All games will be played in Vancouver.

The dates: February 18—Varsity vs. Vancouver. February 25—Varsity vs. Victoria. At Vancouver. March 11—Victoria vs. Vancouver at Vancouver.

March 25 was set as the date for the final of the Brounfeld Cup playoff. With two postponed games to be played, the original dates for the first two games were set back. In the new arrangement Varsity play three games, Vancouver

Eric Leney and Dorothy Morley Capture Titles

VICTORIA CLUB CARRIES GALA

Defeat Noel Radford and Florence Oates to Win Island Badminton Crowns

Leney-Radford Put on Classic Drennan Hincks and Radford Win Men's Doubles; Keen Play-Features Finals

Treating the large crowd to the greatest display of badminton ever witnessed in Victoria, under competitive conditions, Eric Leney, Dunbar, defeated Noel Radford, Victoria, holder of the British Columbia title, 15-9, 9-15, 18-13, in the final for the Vancouver Island championship at the Armories on Saturday evening. Dorothy Morley, Victoria, retained her women's crown, by taking a three-set match from Florence Oates, 4-11, 11-6, 14-12.

Other champions follow: Men's doubles, Noel Radford and Drennan Hincks. Women's doubles, Jean Campbell and Mona Miller. Mixed doubles, Miss Norie and Eric Leney.

Junior girls' singles, Audrey Tremaine. Junior boys' singles, Roger Stanley. Men's handicap doubles, Bob Taylor and Frank Tyrrell. Women's handicap doubles, Audrey Tremaine and Nora Fick. Mixed handicap doubles, Mary Campbell and Pat Colclough.

A GREAT MATCH The Leney-Radford match was a classic and kept the large gallery excited. Leney uncocked terrific power in his overhead game, and his all-round agility and court generalship made difficult shots look easy. He matched Radford's best efforts with an offence for the greater part of the match. Leney was first to break down for a session of breath-taking play. The score remained at 5-4 for Radford for several exchanges in service, before he cut loose with a rally that was a local and a few points behind. Leney caught Radford at 13 all and the players decided to set for five points, all of which Leney won on his service, to take the set 18-13 and the match.

Dorothy Morley, after being hopelessly out of the first set, won the second set, 7-5, and the third set, 11-6, to win a hard-fought women's final from Miss Oates. This was only accomplished after Miss Morley had waged an uphill struggle for two-thirds of the match, for Miss Oates had victory within her grasp in the third set, but Leney caught Radford at 13 all and the players decided to set for five points, all of which Leney won on his service, to take the set 18-13 and the match.

Results of the finals follow: Men's Singles Radford won from H. Webb, 15-2.

Nanaimo Rangers and Tar Flats played to a 2 to 2 draw in the O. B. Allan Cup series. The Rangers took an early lead. Jackson scoring after five minutes of play. Rangers kept up pressure and Jackson added another tally after fifteen minutes. The Flats made several attempts to reduce the lead but missed many good chances to score. Their efforts were rewarded after forty minutes when Roby scored from a difficult angle. Half-time found the Rangers leading 2 to 1.

The Flats tied the score in the second on a penalty goal scored by Mills.

KRUSE DRAWS ON MAT CARD

Portland Wrestler Engages in No Decision Bout With Veteran Jack Taylor

A fall in the fourth for Jack Taylor of Calgary, and one in the seventh for Bob Kruse of Portland, made the eight-round bout at the Stadium Saturday evening a draw and left the lads to split the prize money in an announced winner-take-all affair.

Taylor got his fall on Kruse after a series of rabbit punches following which he picked Kruse up by a body slam and press. Kruse got his fall after a series of headlocks in the seventh which weakened the Calgary man.

The bout had all the features: the fans anticipated and the house was one of the greatest in many weeks. Kruse, frequently in an attitude of prayer in the centre of the ring, told the crowd what he thought of them and they threw him peanuts. Then he stepped out of the ring to chat with Promoter Chilton, and he also had one or two tilts with Referee Bill Stone.

When Kruse was not outside the ropes there was plenty of action with Taylor the aggressor most of the time. Fartmanpin ran high and there was lots of excitement among the big crowd.

In spite of a weight disadvantage Fred Moncel of Chicago got a draw with Nanjo Singh, a husky Hindu lad. It was a fist semi-win-up between two men worth a headline place on any bill.

Red Hopkins and Bruce Lowe provided a good preliminary and got a fall each. Promoter Chilton announced his cards in future would be Saturday evenings and promised the crowd he had a lot of good matmen lined up.

Marriage Is Like Everything Else in Life—It Has the Element of Luck In It, But Beyond That We Have to Put Our Hearts and Our Backs Into It to Make a Success of It," Says Dorothy Dix

IS MARRIAGE a lottery? Undoubtedly the great majority of people believe it to be the greatest gamble on earth. That is why so many of them marry on the grab-bag principle, and they consider the result purely a matter of chance. Nothing is more common than to hear a man or woman say: "I hope I'll have the luck to get a good wife or a good husband."

Curiously enough, this view of marriage is to a certain extent justified, since neither age, nor intelligence, nor prudence, nor experience seem to be any guide in picking out a mate, and since no prophet can foretell what sort of husband or wife any man or woman is going to develop into.

A thousand times have all of us seen marriages that were certain to go on the rocks sail safely and serenely over the matrimonial seas, and we have seen marriages that were sure were made in Heaven, and where the high contracting parties would live happily ever after, and in divorce, we have seen men and women who have been divorced three or four times make just as disastrous a choice of a fifth or sixth mate as they did of the first.

And we have seen marriages work themselves in the characters and habits of men and women that changed them from what they were into what was to all intents and purposes new individuals, just as much as if one had bought a flivver and it turned into a Rolls-Royce when one got it home. We have seen boys who were rounders develop into the most domestic of lawn-mowing and perambulator-pushing husbands and fathers. And we have seen silly, frivolous, extravagant girls, who never even helped mother with the dishes and who kept father in debt for their fine clothes, metamorphosed by marriage into enny-pinching, hard-working wives who desire no livelier amusement than setting up a good dinner for hubby and watching the savings account grow.

So there you are, and observing these things, it is no wonder we have come to believe that marriage is such a chancy sport that it makes horse racing and poker and roulette look like sure things, and that just as good a way as any to select a life partner is to shut your eyes and grab the first woman or man you get your hands on.

It seems, however, that this prevalent theory that marriage is a lottery in which you draw a capital prize or get a blank, according as Dame Fortune smiles or frowns upon you, is erroneous. The fifth Circuit Court of Appeals of the United States has recently handed down a decision declaring that "marriage is not a lottery but is the product of skill and judgment."

"It is clear," said the judge in elaborating this opinion, "that marriage, while not wholly in the control of the individual's will, is largely the product of it. His or her initiative and determination and pertinacity and skill in love-making are more directly potent in winning in this scheme than is lot or chance."

This is also indisputably true. Fate does not bestow its blessings upon us solicited. We have to go after the things we want with all the pep and force that is in us. And we have to be willing to take the risks of the game. We cannot even win in a lottery unless we have bought a ticket in it.

So it isn't by chance that men and women marry, but it is mainly chance whom they marry. Perhaps not one man in a thousand ever marries a woman because she is of the type that he desires, and vice versa. He marries some girl because she was friendly and chatty when he was lonely in a strange boarding house, or because she has a desk next to his where he works, or because they were marooned together on a house party on a rainy week-end.

And women marry for just as inconsequent reasons. If you should ask every woman you know why she married the man she did, she couldn't tell you. It just happened that way.

But while in marrying we may be the sport of the match-making gods, who seem to have a devilish sense of humor in the way they unite people, the way a marriage turns out is mostly a matter of our own volition. Once the drawing in the lottery is over, we can make the marriage a failure or a success as we will by the manner in which we accept the result. We can make the best of it, or we can spend the balance of our lives bemoaning our misfortune in not even getting a break for our money.

Making a happy home isn't an accident. It is teamwork on the part of a husband and wife, putting the best that they have into their marriage. It is a matter of intelligent adjustment, of mutual self-sacrifices, of love and patience and forbearance. It is the man working to support the home, and the woman working to make it a place of peace and comfort and rest.

Nor is being a good husband or a good wife a matter of chance. It is a man being faithful and tender and considerate of his wife, and of a woman using understanding and gentleness and loyalty and devotion in dealing with her husband.

Thousands of men and women who have drawn capital prizes in the matrimonial lottery have thrown away their treasure, as a spendthrift lets easy money slip through his fingers. And thousands of men and women who have drawn pinchbeck husbands and wives out of the grabbag have somehow turned them into pretty satisfactory mates.

And so marriage is like everything else in life. It has the element of luck in it, but beyond that we have to put our hearts and our backs into it to make a success of it.

In ancient Egypt there was no printing-press, but the people knew how to write with pen and ink. They used long sheets of "papyrus," the earliest kind of paper, which was made from reeds growing in the Nile Valley.

Weighing the heart in the Hall of Justice

Rolls of papyrus still exist, and modern scholars have learned to read the words. Writing of olden Egyptians about gods and goddesses, and about the way to obtain a pleasant after-life, are sometimes called "The Book of the Dead." In the Book of the Dead, the priests of Egypt told other persons how they could find a happy life after death. There was a belief that each person had a spirit or "double" which would live only as long as the person's body lasted.

Because they wanted to have a long after-life, people left money to pay for having their bodies treated with oils and spices, and tightly wrapped in cloth. This was also a reason for building great tombs, or pyramids, to hold the "mummies."

Many Egyptian mummies have lasted down to the present day. The Book of the Dead contains prayers and magic charms to be used by the double on its trip to the Hall of Justice. Along the way were many dangers, among them lakes of fire and mighty serpents.

Arriving at the Hall of Justice the double was asked to deny forty-two special kinds of sin, in the presence of the god, Osiris. If any answer was not truthful, the double was punished—perhaps by being thrown to a hungry monster which waited near-by.

If, on the other hand, the double could pass the test, it went to the Fields of Aalu, a place under the earth where there were games to play and boats to paddle along a pleasant river. The Book of the Dead contains pictures which show the adventures of the double on the way to the Fields of Aalu.

NEW RULING ON LIBEL LAW

Associated Press
Tallahassee, Fla., Feb. 6.—According to the Florida Supreme Court, newspapers are not necessarily guilty of libel when they publish incorrect dispatches received by them from press associations engaged in gathering and distributing news.

The court, in an opinion written by Chief Justice Fred H. Davis, said modern newspapers differed greatly from those which existed at the time the first libel laws were drafted, and that there was a distinction between news stories or editorials which the papers themselves sponsored and news dispatches which they received from "reliable" press associations.
